Kalinowski,Tim Saltuklaroglu,2005-11 This textbook presents a new paradigm for understanding the nature and treatment of stuttering based on recent discoveries in neuroscience The authors illustrate how visible stuttering manifestations are actually a solution to a central problem acting as a compensatory mechanism for a central involuntary block rather than a problem in themselves This book features methods that reduce stuttering by inhibiting this central block through the use of sensory and motor tools notably mirror neurons and shows readers that stuttering is not a condition that can be effortlessly trained out of the system or eliminated via simple speech retraining Multilingual Aspects of Fluency Disorders Peter Howell,John Van Borsel,2011-05-11 This book contains contributions by scholars working on diverse aspects of speech who bring their findings to bear on the practical issue of how to treat stuttering in different language groups and in multilingual speakers The book considers classic issues in speech production research as well as whether regions of the brain that are affected in people who stutter relate to areas used intensively in fluent bilingual speech It then reviews how formal language properties and differential use of parts of language affect stuttering in English and then compares these findings to work on stuttering in a variety of languages Finally the book addresses methodological issues to do with studies on bilingualism and stuttering and discusses which approach is appropriate in the treatment of bilingual and multilingual people who stutter
