

Chapter 18 Nuclear Chemistry

Section 10.4 Fission and Fusion*(pages 308–318)

This section discusses nuclear fission and the conversion of mass into energy. It also describes the nuclear processes of fusion and fission.

Reading Strategy (page 308)

Comparing and Contrasting As you read, contrast fission and fusion in the Venn diagram below by listing the ways they differ. For more information on this Reading Strategy, see the Reading and Study Skills in the Skills and Reference Handbook at the end of your textbook.

Nuclear Forces (pages 308–309)

- Describe the strong nuclear force. The strong nuclear force is the attractive force that binds protons and neutrons together in the nucleus.
- Is the following sentence true or false? Over very short distances, the strong nuclear force is much greater than the electric forces among protons. True
- Electric forces in atomic nuclei depend on the number of protons.
- Is the following sentence true or false? The strong nuclear force on a proton or neutron is much greater in a large nucleus than in a small nucleus. False
- All nuclei with 83 or more protons are radioactive.

Fission (pages 309–310)

- Describe fission. Fission is the splitting of an atomic nucleus into two smaller parts.
- Fission can produce very large amounts of energy from very small amounts of mass.

Expression in Fission and Fusion in High-dimensional Macroscopic-microscopic Calculations, 2004 We discuss the relation between the fission fusion potential energy surfaces of very heavy nuclei and the formation process of these nuclei in cold fusion reactions In the potential energy surfaces we find a pronounced valley structure with one valley corresponding to the cold fusion reaction the other to fission As the touching point is approached in the cold fusion entrance channel an instability towards dynamical deformation of the projectile occurs which enhances the fusion cross section These two cluster effects enhance the production of superheavy nuclei in cold fusion reactions in addition to the effect of the low compound system excitation energy in these reactions Heavy ion fusion reactions have been used extensively to synthesize heavy elements beyond actinide nuclei In order to proceed further in this direction we need to understand the formation process more precisely not just the decay process The dynamics of the formation process are considerably more complex than the dynamics necessary to interpret the spontaneous fission decay of heavy elements However before implementing a full dynamical description it is useful to understand the basic properties of the potential energy landscape encountered in the initial stages of the collision The collision process and entrance channel landscape can conveniently be separated into two parts namely the early stage separated system before touching and the late stage composite system after touching The transition between these two stages is particularly important but not very well understood until now To understand better the transition between the two stages we analyze here in detail the potential energy landscape or collision surface of the system both outside and inside the touching configuration of the target and projectile In Sec 2 we discuss calculated five dimensional potential energy landscapes inside touching and identify major features In Sec 3 we present calculated collision surfaces for still separated targets and projectiles Implications for SHE formation are discussed Section 4 is a short summary of the present analysis Advanced Nuclear Fission Theory, 2001 What's the Difference Between Fission and Fusion? | Children's Physics of Energy Baby Professor, 2017-02-15 Although fission and fusion are both nuclear reactions they are miles apart in terms of definitions Fission splits while fusion combines You can use this child friendly book of physics to teach the principles of nuclear reactions in the simplest manner The carefully selected images will serve as additional guide to influence the visual effectiveness of this resource Get a copy today Nuclear Fission and Fusion in a Random-walk Model Mr. Ajeet Singh, 2018-05-14 Analyzes nuclear fission and fusion phenomena using random walk models offering a mathematical and physical perspective on energy generation and particle interactions Fission Or
