Everyday Food Practices Tarunna Sebastian,2021-06-29 In Everyday Food Practices Tarunna Sebastian

explores the teaching and learning dimensions of people's food choices and practices as they are played out in their everyday lives and local community Using multi-sited critical ethnographic methodology Sebastian followed people on their journeys while planning shopping preparing cooking and eating food These journeys reveal that supermarket corporations play a hegemonic role creating and sustaining class-based diets and cultural dynamics which undermine individual agency Rebuking corporate hegemony food education at counter-cultural sites such as farmers markets food cooperatives and community gardens seeks to empower people with knowledge and skills derived from socially and environmentally sustainable food curricula However class and ethnicity-based patterns of engagement compromise learning at these sites Sebastian argues that by contrast the embodied experiences of inter-generational home-based food practices are more effective in teaching sustainable cooking skills and the production of healthy meals
