The Battleship Tirpitz Stefan Draminski, 2017-02-28 In the autumn of 1938 the design team of the Bayerische Flugzeugwerke in Augsburg began work on a development version of the Messerschmitt Bf 109 E which at that time was entering service as the primary fighter of the German Luftwaffe Prof Willy Messerschmitt the company's founder and Robert Lusser chief of project planning sought to develop an improved version of the aircraft which could outperform earlier variants by means of an aerodynamically refined airframe and a more powerful engine The new fighter designated Bf 109 F was to be powered by the Daimler Benz DB 601 E engine a development version of its successful predecessor the DB 601 A used on the Bf 109 E The new DB 601 E was an inline engine with direct fuel injection to the cylinders Displacement was 3390 cm³ and maximum output at 17 750 ft 4 800 m was 1 350 horsepower This was a remarkable 23% increase in power The new engine was longer by 17 2 inches 452 mm which necessitated a major redesign of the engine bearers and cowling The Friedrich German phonetic name for the letter F also incorporated a propeller spinner similar to that designed for the Me 209

The Battleship Bismarck Waldemar Góralski, 2014 Even if they failed to encounter the enemy every one of their sorties amounted to a brush with death There were many dangers for Luftwaffe night fighters to contend with hazardous weather conditions fog rolling out of nowhere return fire from the British bombers enemy night fighters at work over German airfields and simple fatigue could all lead to tragedy One of the men who survived all of this was Ofw Kurt Bundrock Born on 2nd February 1917 in Berlin Bundrock flew as Bordfunker radio operator with NJG 1's ace Hptm Reinhold Knacke 44 night victories

The Heavy Cruiser Prinz Eugen Waldemar Góralski, Grzegorz Nowak, 2011-04-15 Includes excellent 3D objects as well as anglyph glasses which allow you admire this incredible Axis cruiser in 3D An enlarged Admiral Hipper class heavy cruiser which served with the Kriegsmarine of Germany during World War II Prinz Eugen was launched on 22 August 1938 and commissioned on 1 August 1940 She survived to the end of the war only to sink following Operation Crossroads a nuclear weapon test at Bikini Atoll in 1946 During her war career Prinz Eugen fought alongside the battleship Bismarck in the Battle of the Denmark Strait where she was hit three times was torpedoed by the British submarine HMS Trident and from August 1944 onward she was deployed to shell advancing Soviet troop concentrations along the Baltic coast and to transport German refugees to the west About Super Drawings in 3D This series focuses on the construction of famous ships battleships carriers cruisers and submarines With ground breaking 3D imagery each corner angle and dimension of the ship is viewable With various close up views and each 3D image based on actual technical scale drawings and photographs this makes an exceptional reference tool Information on the design development and combat history of each vessel is also included as well as numerous photographs and 1:350th scale drawings

Battleship "Tirpitz", 1945 Battleship Tirpitz Gerhard Koop, Klaus-Peter Schmolke, 1998 The second in a series designed for modellers this is a complete guide to the German battleship Tirpitz from original ship to detailed model Battleships of the Bismarck Class Gerhard

Koop, Klaus-Peter Schmolke, 2014-02-10 The warships of the World War II era German Navy are among the most popular subject in naval history with an almost uncountable number of books devoted to them However for a concise but authoritative summary of the design history and careers of the major surface ships it is difficult to beat a series of six volumes written by Gerhard Koop and illustrated by Klaus Peter Schmolke Each contains an account of the development of a particular class a detailed description of the ships with full technical details and an outline of their service heavily illustrated with plans battle maps and a substantial collection of photographs These have been out of print for ten years or more and are now much sought after by enthusiasts and collectors so this new modestly priced reprint of the series will be widely welcomed The first volume appropriately is devoted to the Kriesmarine s largest and most powerful units the battleships Bismarck and Tirpitz whose careers stand in stark contrast to each other _ one with a glorious but short life while the other was to spend a hunted existence in Norwegian fjords all the time posing a threat to Allied sea communications while attacked by everything from midget submarines to heavy bombers

Tirpitz Niklas Zetterling, 2009-12-01 The Germans for their part had learned not to pit their super battleships against the strength of the entire Home Fleet outside the range of protecting aircraft Thus they kept Tirpitz hidden within fjords along the Norwegian coast like a Damocles Sword hanging over the Allies maritime jugular forcing the British to assume the offensive This strategy paid dividends in July 1942 when the Tirpitz merely stirred from its berth compelling the Royal Navy to abandon a Murmansk bound convoy called PQ 17 in order to confront the leviathan The convoy was then ripped apart by the Luftwaffe and U boats while the Tirpitz returned to its fjord In 1943 the British launched a flotilla of midget submarines against the Tirpitz losing all six of the subs while only lightly damaging the battleship Aircraft attacked repeatedly from carriers and both British and Soviet bases suffering losses including an escort carrier while proving unable to completely knock out the mighty warship Trying an indirect approach the British launched one of the war s most daring commando raids at St Nazaire in order to knock out the last drydock in Europe capable of servicing the Tirpitz Of over 600 commandos and sailors in the raid more than half were lost during an all night battle that succeeded at least in knocking out the drydock It was not until November 1944 that the Tirpitz finally succumbed to British aircraft armed with 10 000 lb Tallboy bombs the ship capsizing at last with the loss of 1 000 sailors Battleship Tirpitz Vincent O'Hara, 2021-11-15 Building upon the expertise of the authors and historians of the Naval Institute Press the Naval History Special Editions are designed to offer studies of the key vessels battles and events of armed conflict Using an image heavy magazine style format these Special Editions should appeal to scholars enthusiasts and general readers alike In 1939 the battleship was the queen of the seas Battleships were designed to project power They were the biggest and most powerful ships afloat and the yardsticks by which the world judged naval strength Within this context the German battleship Tirpitz sister ship of Bismarck was one of the most effective instruments of naval power ever deployed The British called her The Beast She spent the greater part of the Second World War tucked away in isolated fjords north of the Arctic Circle where she became known as The Lonely Queen of the North She sortied only three times and never fired her guns at an enemy warship Yet against this menace the British exerted unequalled effort At all times they kept a pair of modern battleships standing by to face her should she sail they built mini submarines that could operate in the waters of the fjords they repeatedly massed aircraft carrier strike forces in futile efforts to knock her from the war At last they invented massive ordnance the Tallboy bomb the largest non nuclear explosive device of the war Sending their heaviest bombers against her and after three years of sustained effort the Beast was sunk The remarkable career of this remarkable ship is the subject of this authoritative and heavily illustrated Special Edition It considers Tirpitz s design her construction her historical context and all of her operations The power of this individual ship and the influence she exerted on the entire course of the war makes for an enlightening demonstration of the sometimes very unexpected way sea power can be expressed The German Destroyer Z37 Carlo Cestra,2018-03-13 Battleship Siegfried Breyer,1990-03-01 This small format book gives a detailed account of the battleship Tirpitz Tirpitz Jonathan Sutherland,Diane Canwell,2011 The photos in this book are taken from an unpublished album belonged to a member of the crew of famous German Battleship Tirpitz It is a little known fact that before the start of World War Two the ship went on a shakedown voyage into the Atlantic traveling north into Arctic waters and south into the more tropical climates of the Caribbean There are superb photos of the officers and crew both above and below decks including some unique shots of the crew during their stint on a magnificent sail training vessel Other stunning shots show the vessels mighty weapons during gunnery practice during her sea trials This unique collection gives a close up view of one of the most powerful ships of World War Two a ship that proved to be a persistent thorn in the side of the Royal Navy until sunk in Norway towards the end of the war The German Battleship Tirpitz Stefan

Dramiński,2017-03-19 The last battleship of the German Kriegsmarine was ceremonially launched on 1 April 1939 After the failure of the operation Rhein bung and sinking of the battleship Bismarck during an Atlantic rally May 1941 Hitler banned planning such operations A decision to send Tirpitz to Norway was made There she could be stationed in fiords relatively safely and raid Allied shipping in Arctic waters Her presence in that region alone caused every convoy sailing nearby to be escorted by heavy warships The greatest success in the career of Tirpitz albeit achieved without firing even a single salvo was the operation against the convoy PQ 17 in July 1942 The ships heading for Murmansk were detected and the battleship with her escorts steamed out to attack the convoy It led to a controversial order issued by the British Admiralty to avoid a concentrated attack it was ordered to disperse the convoy Each ship was to reach the Soviet port on her own The result was a true massacre unprotected ships easily fell victim to bombs and torpedoes from German aircraft and U Boats The last offensive operation in the battleship s career took place in early September 1943 Tirpitz supported the landing on Spitsbergen with her artillery fire After the disaster of the convoy PQ 17 the British were determined to eliminate Tirpitz and sought the best ways to sink or damage the battleship Until the end of her career she was almost constantly harassed by air and sea attacks One of the most successful attacks took place in late September 1943 Tirpitz was heavily damaged by X craft midget submarines carrying explosive charges Repairs lasted until Spring 1944 During several next months the battleship was attacked by carrier based aircraft and damaged several times The final blows were struck by land based four engined aircraft armed with 5 5 ton bombs In the first raid on 15 September 1944 Tirpitz sustained heavy damage The end of the battleship took place on 12 November when the ship following another attack capsized and sank in shallow waters of the fjord All pictures in this publication show the battleship in the configuration of July 1942

The Russian Destroyer Spravedlivyy Oleg Pomoshnikov, Jan Radziemski, 2018-12-19 The Tirpitz David Woodward, 1953 The Battleship Bismarck Jack Brower, 2005 The Battleship Bismarck contains a complete set of superb line drawings both the conventional type of plan as well as explanatory views with full descriptive keys These are supported by technical details photos and a record of the ship s service history
