Methods for the Economic Evaluation of Health Care Programmes, 1997 Theory and Methods of Economic Evaluation of Health Care Magnus Johannesson, 1996-05-31 Most economic evaluations of health care programmes at the moment are cost effectiveness and cost utility analyses The problem with these methods is that their theoretical foundations are unclear This has led to confusion about how to define the costs and health effects and how to interpret the results of these studies In the environmental and traffic safety fields it is instead common to carry out traditional cost benefit analyses of health improving programmes This striking difference in how health programmes are assessed in different fields was the original motivation for writing this book The aim of the book is to try and provide a coherent framework within cost benefit analysis and welfare economics for the different methods of economic evaluation in the health care field The book is written in an easily accessible manner and several examples of applications of the different methods are provided It is my hope that it will be useful both for teaching purposes and as a guide for practitioners in the field Glenn C Blomquist John D Graham Rich O Connor and four anonymous referees provided helpful comments on previous versions of the manuscript I would also like to express my gratitude to the following persons for helping me to prepare the manuscript Carl Magnus Berglund Carin Blanksvard Ann Brown and Ziad Obeid The Advanced Handbook of Methods in Evidence Based Healthcare Andrew Stevens, Keith Abrams, John Brazier, Ray Fitzpatrick, Richard Lilford, 2001-01-02 This handbook is an excellent reflection of the growing maturity and methodological sophistication of the field of Health Technology Assessment The Handbook covers a spectrum of issues from primary evidence clinical trials through reviews and meta analysis to identifying and filling gaps in the evidence Up to date clearly written and well edited the handbook is a needed addition to any personal or professional library dealing with Health Technology Assessment Professor David Banta TNO Prevention and Health The Netherlands This text presents the most advanced knowledge on methodology in health care research and will form the backbone of many future studies Paula Roberts Nurse Researcher The effectiveness revolution both in research and clinical practice has tested available methods for health services research to the extreme How far can observational methods routine data and qualitative methods be used in health care evaluation What cost and outcome measures are appropriate and how should data be gathered With the support of over two million pounds from the British Health Technology Assessment Research Programme the research project for this Handbook has led to both a synthesis of all of the existing knowledge in these areas and an agenda for future debate and research The chapters and their authors have been selected through a careful process of peer review and provide a coherent and complete approach to the field The handbook has been a unique collaboration between internationally regarded clinicians statisticians epidemiologists social scientists health economists and ethicists It provides the most advanced thinking and the most authoritative resource for a state of the art review of methods of evaluating health care and will be required reading for anyone involved in health services research and management
