Practice Meets Theory is a new textbook that serves as a resource for coach developers and educators to generate dialogue about how to further integrate evidence into practice by supporting the development of critical thinking and reflection as it relates to the real problems of practice in sport coaching. Grounded in a case study framework, this textbook incorporates rich descriptions of real events as an approach to exploring the problems of practice in coaching. It includes multiple approaches to problems that are largely contextually specific and it includes the corresponding literature to allow for a deeper exploration of the connection between theory and practice. The book's seven sections explore key themes such as building environments, relationships among people involved in coaching, coaching philosophy, and long-term goals. Each chapter includes questions for further discussion. Case Studies in Sport Coaching and Development is a key textbook for both undergraduate and postgraduate students of sport coaching, sport coaching development and education, as well as practicing sport coaches, coach developers, and organizations. Ecological Dynamics in Sport Coaching Steve M Smith, 2026-01-22

Ecological Dynamics in Sport Coaching provides coaches and students with sport-specific guidance to coaching within the ecological dynamics framework, presenting guidance to support coaches in creating representative learning designs that will enhance skill acquisition and sport performance. Ecological Dynamics is a theoretical framework that attempts to understand how perceptual-motor skills are acquired and controlled within an environment of complex actions. This new textbook explores contemporary sport-specific research to identify the key perceptual information that is unique for each sport and combines findings with expert practitioner experience to provide guidance on how to coach using ecological dynamics. Organised in three sections, Ecological Dynamics in Sport Coaching first presents the principles of coaching with ecological dynamics and then moves on to provide sport-specific guidance based in skill acquisition, practice, and performance research to create representative learning environments. This new volume is key reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students, researchers, and coach practitioners in the fields of sport coaching, skill acquisition, physical education, physical activity, and movement science. Assessment and Monitoring of Human Movement Cristian Romagnoli, Giuseppe Annino, Elvira

Padua, Vincenzo Bonaiuto, 2025-10-03 Human movement studies have long involved researchers from various scientific disciplines such as biomechanics, functional anatomy, physiology, and neuroscience in responding to the growing demand in sports science for reliable and accurate methods and tools for monitoring and evaluating physical performance. Accurately measuring body movement data, i.e. walking, running, throwing, swimming, and paddle stroke, is useful for identifying biomechanical and kinetics and physiological and metabolic variables. However, the transition of functional assessment of physical activity with accurate and reliable data from the laboratory to the daily life environment has been complex. Thanks to technological innovation, miniaturized and wearable sensors can non-invasively measure and monitor kinematic and dynamic data related to the performance of a specific sport or physical activity, broadening their application in the clinical field such as monitoring and improving patient care directly at home or at a distance. Therefore, the quantitative analysis of human
