Global Environmental Change Past Present And Future:

Global Environmental Change Karl K. Turekian, 1996 Suitable as a primary text for a variety of introductory undergraduate courses including global environmental change or earth and human history found in departments of geology geophysics or earth science Aimed for the non science major the text assumes a knowledge of high school chemistry or physics Also suitable as a supplemental text in other courses Using a chronological narrative to unravel the record of global environmental change this text explores the full range of naturally occurring and human induced affected environmental changes Climate Change Marie-Antoinette Mélières, Chloé Maréchal, 2015-05-04 This book is designed for first and second year university students and their instructors in earth science environmental science and physical geography degree programmes worldwide The summaries at the end of each section constitute essential reading for policy makers and planners It provides a simple but masterly account with a minimum of equations of how the Earth's climate system works of the physical processes that have given rise to the long sequence of glacial and interglacial periods of the Quaternary and that will continue to cause the climate to evolve Its straightforward and elegant description with an abundance of well chosen illustrations focuses on different time scales and includes the most recent research in climate science by the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC It shows how it is human behaviour that will determine whether or not the present century is a turning point to a new climate unprecedented on Earth in the last several million years Global Environmental Change Committee on Global Change Research, Policy Division, Policy and Global Affairs, National Research Council, 1999-09-28 How can we understand and rise to the environmental challenges of global change One clear answer is to understand the science of global change not solely in terms of the processes that control changes in climate and the composition of the atmosphere but in how ecosystems and human society interact with these changes In the last two decades of the twentieth century a number of such research efforts supported by computer and satellite technology have been launched Yet many opportunities for integration remain unexploited and many fundamental questions remain about the earth's capacity to support a growing human population This volume encourages a renewed commitment to understanding global change and sets a direction for research in the decade ahead Through case studies the book explores what can be learned from the lessons of the past 20 years and what are the outstanding scientific questions Highlights include Research imperatives and strategies for investigators in the areas of atmospheric chemistry climate ecosystem studies and human dimensions of global change The context of climate change including lessons to be gleaned from paleoclimatology Human responses to and forcing of projected global change This book offers a comprehensive overview of global change research to date and provides a framework for answering urgent questions Environmental Change in Drylands: Past, Present, Future Kathryn Elizabeth Fitzsimmons, Zhuolun Li, Zhiwei Xu, 2022-09-07 The SAGE Handbook of Environmental Change John A Matthews, 2012-01-31 The SAGE Handbook of Environmental Change is an extensive survey of the interdisciplinary

Climate of the Past, Present and Future Javier Vinós, 2022-09-20 This book is an unorthodox ground breaking scientific study on natural climate change and its contribution to ongoing multi centennial global warming The book critically reviews the effect of the following on climate Milankovitch cycles abrupt glacial Dansgaard Oeschger events Holocene climate variability the 1500 year cycle solar activity volcanic eruptions greenhouse gases energy transport Applying the scientific method to available evidence reveals that some of these phenomena are profoundly misunderstood by most researchers Milankovitch cycles are tied to orbital obliquity not to orbital precessional summer insolation glacial megatides might have triggered abrupt Dansgaard Oeschger events and tides are likely responsible for the related 1500 year climate cycle Climate change affects volcanic eruptions more than the opposite and secular variations in solar activity are more important to climate change during the Holocene than greenhouse gases In this book we see how important natural climate change has been on human societies of the past It also produces new climate projections for the 21st century and when the next glaciation could happen What emerges from this study of natural climate change is a central theme Variations in the transport of energy from the tropics to the poles have been neglected as a cause of climate change and solar activity variations affect climate by modulating this transport The author tells us Transporting more energy from a greenhouse gas rich region the tropics to a greenhouse gas poor region the poles increases the amount of energy lost at the top of the atmosphere The effect resembles a reduction in the greenhouse gas content The book presents the Winter Gatekeeper Hypothesis on how variations in solar activity regulate Earth s energy transport and in so doing affect atmospheric circulation the rotation of the planet and the El Ni o Southern Oscillation This book is oriented toward students and academics in the climate sciences and climate anthropology and should also appeal to readers interested in the science of natural climate change The repercussions of Climate of the Past Present and Future are far reaching By uncovering a strong natural climate change component it provides a novel view of anthropogenic climate change fossil energy use and our future climate a view quite different from the IPCC s gloomy projections Global Warming and Climate Change S. K. Agarwal, Shyam Kishor Agarwal, 2004 The earth s atmosphere is made up of different layers Gases such as Carbon dioxide Methane Nitrous oxide chlorofluorocarbons Methyl bromide etc make the atmosphere work like a greenhouse These gases trap heat emitted by infrared wavelengths from the earth s surface This phenomenon is called greenhouse effect and is responsible for the average temperature at the earth surface being 15°C rather than 15°C the temperature it would be if there no atmosphere

Biodiversity Conservation and Environmental Change Lindsey Gillson, 2015 Ecosystems today are dynamic and complex leaving conservationists faced with the paradox of conserving moving targets New approaches to conservation are now required that aim to conserve ecological function and process rather than attempt to protect static snapshots of biodiversity To do this effectively long term information on ecosystem variability and resilience is needed While there is a wealth of such information in palaeoecology archaeology and historical ecology it remains an underused resource by conservation ecologists In bringing together the disciplines of neo and palaeoecology and integrating them with conservation biology this novel text illustrates how an understanding of long term change in ecosystems can in turn inform and influence their conservation and management in the Anthropocene By looking at the history of traditional management climate change disturbance and land use the book describes how a long term perspective on landscape change can inform current and pressing conservation questions such as whether elephants should be culled how best to manage fire and whether ecosystems can or should be re-wilded Biodiversity Conservation and Environmental Change is suitable for senior undergraduate and post graduate students in conservation ecology palaeoecology biodiversity conservation landscape ecology environmental change and natural resource management It will also be of relevance and use to a global market of conservation practitioners researchers educators and policy makers
