Conflict Moira Inghilleri, Sue-Ann Harding, 2010-01-30 First Published in 2010 Translators and interpreters are frequently found at the centre of attempts to wage war or negotiate peace between opposing factions Translation and interpreting also serve a vital function in communicating a conflict locally and globally as interested parties attempt to legitimize their actions appeal for assistance and enlist support for their cause and the condemnation of their stated enemy The unavoidable independent exercises of judgement that interpreters and translators make through their participation in or re narration of a conflict and the decisions that go with them provide clear and strong evidence for the lead role in the construction of meanings and identities that interpreters and translators assume in situations of conflict irrespective of their historical or geopolitical setting This special issue of The Translator explores the role of translators and interpreters in a number of conflicts from the 20th century to the present Drawing on fictional and non fictional texts legal and peacekeeping settings and reports from war zones contributors to this volume explore the overlapping themes of mediation agency and ethics in relation to translators and interpreters as they negotiate the political social cultural linguistic and ethical factors that converge often dangerously in situations of armed conflict The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Politics

Translation Studies Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2010 Moreover many items in the reference lists are hyperlinked to the TSB where the user can find an abstract of a publication All articles between 500 and 6000 words are written by specialists in the different subfields and are peer reviewed Last but not least the usability accessibility and flexibility of the HTS depend on the commitment of people who agree that Translation Studies does matter All users are therefore invited to share their feedback Any questions remarks and suggestions for improvement can be sent to the editorial team The Sociological Turn in Translation and Interpreting Studies Claudia V. Angelelli, 2014-09-15 Increasing attention has been paid to the agency of translators and interpreters as well as to the social factors that permeate acts of translation and interpreting In addition agency and social factors are discussed in more interdisciplinary terms. Currently the focus is not only on translators or interpreters i.e. the exploration of their intra social agency and identity construction or on their activities and the consequences thereof but also on other phenomena such as the displacement of texts and people and issues of access and linguisticism. The displacement of texts whether written or oral across time and space as well as the geographic displacement of people has encouraged researchers in Translation and Interpreting Studies to consider issues related to translation and interpreting through the lens of the Sociology of Language, Sociolinguistics and Historiography. Researchers have employed a myriad of theoretical and methodological lenses borrowed from other disciplines in the Humanities and Social Sciences. Therefore the interdisciplinarity of Translation and Interpreting Studies is more evident now than ever before. This volume originally published as a special issue of Translation and Interpreting Studies issue 7 2 2012 is a perfect example of such interdisciplinarity reflecting the shift that has occurred in Translation and Interpreting Studies around the world over the last 30 years.

Advances in Discourse Analysis of Translation and Interpreting Binhua Wang, Jeremy Munday, 2020-10-22. This edited thematic collection features latest developments of discourse analysis in translation and interpreting studies. It investigates the process of how cultural and ideological intervention is conducted in translation and interpreting using a wide array of discourse analysis and systemic functional linguistic approaches and drawing on empirical data from the Chinese context. The book is divided into four main sections: I uncovering positioning and ideology in interpreting and translation; II linking linguistic approach with socio cultural interpretation; III discourse analysis into news translation; and IV analysis of multimodal and intersemiotic discourse in translation. The different approaches to discourse analysis provide a much needed contribution to the field of translation and interpreting studies. This combination of discourse analysis and corpus analysis demonstrates the interconnectedness of these fields and offers a rich source of conceptual and methodological tools. This book will appeal to scholars and research students in translation and interpreting studies, cross linguistic discourse analysis and Chinese studies.

Political Discourse, Media and Translation Christina Schäffner, Susan Bassnett, 2010. This volume addresses the role played by translation in international political communication and news reporting and brings to light the usually invisible link between politics, media and translation. The contributors explore the interrelationship between media in the widest sense and translation with a focus on political texts, institutional contexts and translation policies. These topics are explored from a Translation Studies perspective thus bringing a new disciplinary view to the investigation of political discourse and the language of the media. The first part of the volume focuses on textual analysis investigating transformations that occur in translation processes and the second part examines institutional contexts and policies and their effects on translation production and reception.
