Making Public in a Privatized World David A. McDonald, 2016-02-15 How do we provide effective public services in a deeply neoliberal world In the wake of the widespread failure of privatisation efforts societies in the global south are increasingly seeking progressive ways of recreating the public sector With contributors ranging from cutting edge scholars to activists working in health water and energy provision and with case studies covering a broad spectrum of localities and actors Making Public in a Privatized World uncovers the radically different ways in which public services are being reshaped from the grassroots up From communities holding the state accountable for public health in rural Guatemala to waste pickers in India and decentralized solar electricity initiatives in Africa the essays in this collection offer probing insights into the complex ways in which people are building genuine alternatives to privatization while also illustrating the challenges which communities face in creating public services which are not subordinated to the logic of the market or to the monolithic state entities of the past

The Evolution of Economic Development in Africa Francis K. Mbroh, 2021-07-11 Within the theoretical framework of the trade growth and structural transformation growth nexuses the book examines the evolution of African goods and service trade in terms of value and share of global commerce relative to other regions during the period 1948 2017 It also identifies and discusses discernible changes in the composition and structure of African exports and imports between 1995 and 2015 and their implications for economic development in Africa The study attributes Africa's laggard trade performance during the period primarily to sub optimal macroeconomic policies and lack of bold export development policies and initiatives among other factors It also offers an incisive discussion of several inhibitions to the structural transformation of African exports and imports including lack of finance globalization tariff and non tariff measures in global markets The discussion of the evolution of African trade during the period 1948 2017 based on statistics and publications of international organizations including the UNCTAD the World Bank and the African Development Bank among others is the first of its kind in terms of scope and depth of review of African trade The analyses of cross border trade during 1948 2017 and their implications for Africa's economic development prospects constitute a useful reference material for academics and students of African and development studies and African and international policymakers

Financial Inclusion of Small Rural Producers Francisco G. Villarreal, 2017 There is mounting empirical evidence that the responsible provision and use of formal financial services have a positive impact on household well being and enterprise performance At the individual level financial inclusion benefits rural households and small producers by facilitating the safe accumulation of assets enabling them to leverage those assets in order to invest in human and physical capital and supporting better risk management The positive effects at the aggregate level are associated with better allocation of scarce resources among different activities Despite recent progress on different aspects of financial inclusion in Latin America and the Caribbean large gaps remain especially in rural areas which have been historically neglected by traditional providers of financial services This book describes how these gaps have evolved recently in five countries Costa Rica the Dominican Republic El Salvador Honduras and Mexico that are at different stages of designing and implementing comprehensive financial inclusion strategies Then on the basis of a comparative analysis of the institutional architecture available it identifies the main barriers preventing small rural producers from accessing and making effective use of the various financial services on offer with a view to making policy recommendations for overcoming these limitations

Rethinking the Role of the State in Finance, 2012 Financial Inclusion World Bank Group, 2014-03-03 Financial inclusion has become a major subject of interest among policymakers researchers and other financial sector stakeholders Many countries for example have recently adopted explicit financial inclusion strategies with targets for financial inclusion The interest reflects an increased recognition that financial inclusion can be a driver of economic growth and poverty alleviation and that many individuals and firms are excluded unnecessarily from even basic financial services About half of the worlds adult population more than 2 5 billion people have no bank account is one powerful example Barriers such as cost travel distance and amount of paperwork and requirements play an important role Many of these barriers can be addressed by better policies Despite the high interest there are still important gaps in knowledge about financial inclusion what drives it and what policies affect it And while recent years have seen some increases in financial inclusion there is still much scope to reduce barriers to access However one of the challenges is that efforts to increase inclusion if not implemented well can backfire Deeply ingrained social problems cannot be resolved purely with an infusion of debt If not done properly it can have the opposite effect making poor borrowers increasingly dependent on debt and even contributing to financial instability Global Financial Development Report 2014 Financial Inclusion is a new report from the World Bank Group It takes a step back and re examines financial inclusion from the perspective of new global datasets and new evidence It builds on a critical mass of new research and operational work produced by World Bank Group staff as well as outside researchers and contributors The report the second in this series follows up on the inaugural issue the Global Financial Development Report 2013 Rethinking the Role of the State in Finance <http://www.worldbank.org/financialdevelopment> Accompanying the Global Financial Development Report 2014 is a vast body of underlying research and data Among other things this includes an expanded and updated version of the Global Financial Development Database a dataset of over 70 financial system characteristics for 203 economies from 1960 to 2011 which is presented in the reports appendix Bank Competition and Credit Booms Phurichai Rungcharoenkitkul, 2015 Little Data Book on Financial Development 2013 World Bank, 2012-10-30 The Little Data Book on Financial Development 2013 is a pocket edition of the Global Financial Development Database published as part of the work on the Global Financial Development Report 2013 Rethinking the Role of the State in Finance It contains 38 indicators of financial development in 205 economies including measures of 1 financial depth 2 access 3 efficiency and 4 stability of financial institutions and markets Additional variables historical observations and links to underlying research are available at www.worldbank.org/financialdevelopment The Little Data Book on Financial Development 2013 World Bank, 2012-10-01 This pocket edition of the Global Financial Development Database contains 38 indicators of financial development in 205 economies including measures of financial depth access efficiency and stability of financial institutions and markets Additional variables historical observations and links to underlying research are available at www.worldbank.org/financialdevelopment Capital especulativo y blindaje financiero en México Roza Bernal
