Globalectics Globalectics:

Globalectics Ngugi wa Thiong'o, 2012-02-21 A masterful writer working in many genres Ngugi wa Thiong'o entered the East African literary scene in 1962 with the performance of his first major play The Black Hermit at the National Theatre in Uganda. In 1977 he was imprisoned after his most controversial work Ngaahika Ndeenda I Will Marry When I Want produced in Nairobi sharply criticized the injustices of Kenyan society and unequivocally championed the causes of ordinary citizens. Following his release Ngugi decided to write only in his native Gikuyu communicating with Kenyans in one of the many languages of their daily lives and today he is known as one of the most outspoken intellectuals working in postcolonial theory and the global postcolonial movement. In this volume Ngugi wa Thiong'o summarizes and develops a cross section of the issues he has grappled with in his work which deploys a strategy of imagery language folklore and character to decolonize the mind. Ngugi confronts the politics of language in African writing the problem of linguistic imperialism and literature's ability to resist it the difficult balance between orality or orature and writing or literature the tension between national and world literature and the role of the literary curriculum in both reaffirming and undermining the dominance of the Western canon. Throughout he engages a range of philosophers and theorists writing on power and postcolonial creativity including Hegel Marx L. v. Strauss and Aimé Césaire. Yet his explorations remain grounded in his own experiences with literature and orature and reworks the difficult dialectics of theory into richly evocative prose. Globalectics Ngũgĩ (wa Thiong'o), 2013

Being and Becoming Ukpokolo, Chinyere, 2016-02-27 This book illuminates the complex and constantly shifting social and cultural dynamics that shape people's identity. Specifically the volume focuses on the intersections of gender with culture and identity and at different historical epochs on the way men and women define themselves and are defined by diverse peoples and cultures across time and space in sub-Saharan Africa. The discussions presented in this anthology primarily focus on being as a state or condition defined by sex identity and how this identity shifts and hence becoming assuming diverse meanings in disparate societies contexts and time. The discourse therefore moves from how the perception of the self in cultural and historical contexts has informed actions and at some other times shaped interpretations given to historical facts to how changing economic realities also shape the definitions and constructions of social and relational issues in sub-Saharan Africa. The historical trajectories of Islamic religion colonialism and Christian missionary activities in sub-Saharan Africa have shaped the worlds of the peoples of the region and impacted on gender relations. The Postcolonial Intellectual Oliver Lovesey, 2016-03-03 Addressing a neglected dimension in postcolonial scholarship Oliver Lovesey examines the figure of the postcolonial intellectual as repeatedly evoked by the fabled troika of Said Spivak and Bhabha and by members of the pan-African diaspora such as Cabral Fanon and James Love. Love's primary focus is Ngugi wa Thiong'o one of the greatest writers of post-independence Africa. Ngugi continues to be a vibrant cultural agitator and innovator who in contrast to many other public intellectuals has participated directly in grassroots cultural renewal enduring imprisonment and exile as a consequence of his engagement in political action Lovesey's comprehensive study concentrates on Ng's non-fictional prose writings including his largely overlooked early journalism and his most recent autobiographical and theoretical work He offers a postcolonial critique that acknowledges Ng's complex position as a virtual spokesperson for the oppressed and global conscience who now speaks from a location of privilege Ng's writings Lovesey shows display a seemingly paradoxical consistency in their concerns over nearly five decades at the same time that there have been enormous transformations in his ideology and a shift in his focus from Africa's holocaust to Africa's renaissance Lovesey argues that Ng's view of the intellectual has shifted from an alienated nearly neocolonial stance to a position that allows him to celebrate intellectual activism and a return to the model of the oral vernacular intellectual even as he challenges other global intellectuals Tracing the development of this notion of the postcolonial intellectual Lovesey argues for Ng's rightful position as a major postcolonial theorist who helped establish postcolonial studies
