Whiteness and White Privilege in Psychotherapy Andrea Dottolo,Ellyn Kaschak,2018-02-02 This unprecedented interdisciplinary collection focuses on gender whiteness and white privilege and sheds light on this understudied subject matter in the context of clinical psychology in both theories and applications Psychologists especially therapists are often trained to look for issues that are not readily visible cannot be spoken and that are commonly taken for granted Feminist and multi cultural researchers and practitioners further seek to expose the power structures that benefit them or that unfairly advantage some groups over others Whiteness has been investigated by sociologists and critical race theorists but has been largely overlooked by psychologists and psychotherapists even those who deal with feminist and multi cultural issues This volume explores the ways in which gender whiteness and white privilege intersect in the therapy room bringing to light that which is often unseen and thus unnamed while examining issues of epistemology theory supervision and practice in feminist therapies The various contributions encompass theory history empirical research personal reflections and practical teaching strategies for the classroom The authors remind us that whiteness and other forms of privilege are situated among multiple other forces structures identities and experiences and cannot be examined alone without context This book was originally published as a special issue of Women Therapy

Cultural Competency Training in a Global Society Richard H. Dana,James Allen,2008-11-13 Cultural competence is more than an admirable goal it is an essential skill set for mental health professionals working in a diverse global society marked by crisis and trauma It is essential for clinicians to understand the intricate mix of history and self concept identity and tradition that are central not only for ameliorating psychological problems but to foster psychological health and well being As the definition of culture takes on broader meanings at once embracing multiple identities and increasing globalization Cultural Competency Training in a Global Society brings a vital perspective and practical understanding to clinical counseling and school psychologists as well as to graduate students entering these fields By describing a comprehensive training model for professional education and practice in the United States with ethnic minority groups indigenous populations immigrants and refugees this book has relevance for other multicultural societies because the implications are multidisciplinary in focus and potentially international in scope The existing and emergent global multicultural populations described in this book represent the neglected human faces of economic globalization Among the topics covered Requirements for professional training in cultural competency Research basis for cultural competency training International resources and their usage in training and practice Multicultural assessment in the service of intervention Evaluating cultural competency training      Encyclopedia of Human Services and Diversity Linwood H. Ladislav Timulak PhD Course Director Doctorate in Counselling Psychology

Trinity College Dublin John McLeod has a talent for bringing readers into intimate contact with the experience of another person's experience. Through his evocative descriptions, accessible language, and plentiful examples, you will find yourself looking through the eyes of both clients and therapists and developing a depth of understanding about important processes in psychotherapy. His position at the vanguard of psychotherapy research allows him to bring to life the practice of psychotherapy while posing research questions and stimulating curiosity about findings. His valuing of varied approaches to psychotherapy invites the reader to connect with diverse perspectives and consider their own beliefs.

Developing Multicultural Counseling Competence Danica Hays, Bradley Erford, 2022-06-28

For courses in multicultural counseling, this text builds multicultural counseling competence using a systems approach. Developing Multicultural Counseling Competence is infused with self-development opportunities, first-hand perspectives, and real cases. Emphasis is placed on promoting awareness, knowledge, and skills for understanding cultural makeup and privilege and oppression experiences, understanding others of diverse identities and experiences, and engaging in facilitative counseling relationships. The 4th Edition includes recent research trends and enhanced discussions on intersectionality and identity, the impact of White supremacy, and the complexities of gender and gender identity. Hallmark features of this title: Key multicultural constructs and interpersonal processes relevant to counseling are introduced early. Social advocacy coverage shows how differential amounts of power, access, advantage, and status are available to clients based on cultural makeup. Privilege and oppression experiences are incorporated into the framework of counseling multicultural populations. Voices from the Field feature first-hand insights from real clients and expert practitioners. Activities and Reflections encourage students to consider chapter material in a more personal way by examining their own cultural identities or social justice-related experiences. Case Studies illustrate concerns of actual or hypothetical clients to show how chapter material can be applied to working with them. New and updated features of this title: NEW State of the Research identifies trends and potential research topics and frameworks that students can explore in their careers. UPDATED Expanded discussions of intersectionality prepare future counselors to apply their learning of identity development and privilege and oppression experiences. UPDATED The effects of a legacy of White supremacy on communities is addressed early and often. Students will see its prevailing impact on day-to-day life and learn to use the right framework to address it in their practice. UPDATED A deeper focus on the complexities of gender and gender identity considers affirmative counseling of transgender and nonbinary individuals of intersecting identities. NEW Learning Outcomes at the start of each chapter identify key concepts to support comprehension. The LMS-Compatible Assessment Bank streamlines assignments and grading. NEW Learning outcome quizzes, application exercises, and automatically graded chapter tests can be assigned from a packaged file. Questions give students feedback and model responses based on their answers. Learning outcome quizzes and application exercises are aligned to CACREP standards, and a standards map is available in the Instructor's Manual. Features
