This exhibition design comprises a contemplative space enhancing the quiet monumentality of Kahn's drawings as well as reflecting his own preoccupations with symmetry walls and their openings. The four trips within the show were arranged chronological in intimate roomlike spaces color coded to evoke an atmosphere appropriate to their location: storm blue for New England, saturated yellow for Greece etc. The color band which narrows one's focus within the tall gallery and on which all works were hung was continuous throughout a single trip and broke between trips instilling a sense of travel through time and space. Windows framed important works allowing them to be seen twice in two contexts as well as allowing views of a peopled space.

Topophilia and Topophobia Xing Ruan, Paul Hogben, 2020-10-28 This book is about the love and hate relations that humans establish with their habitat which have been coined by discerning modern thinkers as topophilia and topophobia. Whilst such affiliations with the topos, our manmade as well as natural habitat, have been traced back to antiquity, a wide range of twentieth century cases are studied here and reflected upon by dwelling on this framework. The book provides a timely reminder that the qualitative aspects of the topos, sensual as well as intellectual, should not be disregarded in the face of rapid technological development and the mass of building that has occurred since the turn of the millennium. Topophilia and Topophobia offers speculative and historical reflections on the human habitat of the century that has just passed, authored by some of the world's leading scholars and architects including Joseph Rykwert, Yi Fu Tuan, Vittorio Gregotti and Jean Louis Cohen. Human habitats ranging broadly from the cities of the twentieth century highbrow modern architecture both in Western countries and in Asia to non architect planner designed vernacular settlements and landscapes are reviewed under the themes of topophilia and topophobia across the disciplines of architecture, landscape studies, philosophy, human geography and urban planning.

An Architecture Notebook Simon Unwin, 2000 A companion volume to the author's successful text Analysing Architecture, this book follows the same approach and format to explore conceptual themes in architecture further.

The Architecture of Influence Amanda Reeser Lawrence, 2023-11-21 How do we create the new from the old? The Architecture of Influence explores this fundamental question by analyzing a broad swath of twentieth century architectural works including some of the best known examples of the architectural canon, modern and postmodern through the lens of influence. The book serves as both a critique of the discipline's long standing focus on genius and a celebration of the creative act of revisioning and reimagining the past. It argues that all works of architecture not only depend on the past but necessarily alter, rewrite and reposition the traditions and ideas to which they refer. Organized into seven chapters: Replicas, Copies, Compilations, Generalizations, Revivals, Emulations and Self Repetitions, the book redefines influence as an active process through which the past is defined, recalled and subsequently redefined within twentieth century architecture.
