Environmental Archaeology Manuals In Archaeological Method Theory And Technique:

Environmental Archaeology Elizabeth Reitz, Myra Shackley, 2012-06-05 One of the most significant developments in archaeology in recent years is the emergence of its environmental branch the study of humans interactions with their natural surroundings over long periods and of organic remains instead of the artifacts and household items generally associated with sites With the current attention paid to human responsibility for environmental change this innovative field is recognized by scientists conservation and heritage managers and policymakers worldwide In this context comes Environmental Archaeology by Elizabeth Reitz and Myra Shackley updating the seminal 1981 text Environmental Archaeology by Myra Shackley Rigorously detailed yet concise and accessible this volume surveys the complex and technical field of environmental archaeology for researchers interested in the causes consequences and potential future impact of environmental change and archaeology Its coverage acknowledges the multiple disciplines involved in the field expanding the possibilities for using environmental data from archaeological sites in enriching related disciplines and improving communication among them Introductory chapters explain the processes involved in the formation of sites introduce research designs and field methods and walk the reader through biological classifications before focusing on the various levels of biotic and abiotic materials found at sites including Sediments and soils Viruses bacteria archaea protists and fungi Bryophytes and vascular plants Wood charcoal stems leaves and roots Spores pollen and other microbotanical remains Arthropods molluscs echinoderms and vertebrates Stable isotopes elements and biomolecules The updated Environmental Archaeology is a major addition to the resource library of archaeologists environmentalists historians researchers policymakers anyone involved in studying managing or preserving historical sites The updated Environmental Archaeology is a major addition to the resource library of archaeologists environmentalists historians researchers policymakers anyone involved in studying managing or preserving historical sites

Zooarchaeology in Practice Christina M. Giovas, Michelle J. LeFebvre, 2017-11-24 Zooarchaeology in Practice unites depth of treatment with broad topical coverage to advance methodological discussion and development in archaeofaunal analysis Through case studies historical accounts and technical reviews authored by leading figures in the field the volume examines how zooarchaeological data and interpretation are shaped by its methods of practice and explores the impact of these effects at varying levels of investigation Contributing authors draw on geographically and taxonomically diverse datasets providing instructive approaches to problems in traditional and emerging areas of methodological concern Readers from specialists to students will gain an extensive sophisticated look at important disciplinary issues that are sure to provoke critical reflection on the nature and importance of sound methodology With implications for how archaeologists reconstruct human behavior and paleoecology and broader relevance to fields such as paleontology and conservation biology Zooarchaeology in Practice makes an enduring contribution to the methodological advancement of the discipline

Silvicultures Fernando Allende Álvarez, Gillian Gomez-Mediavilla, Nieves López-Estébanez, 2019-06-05 The history and past management of trees within woodlands are the main objectives of this book The authors show four points of view about one theme silvicultures Wood pasture systems of South East England and Northern Italy Spanish pollard forests and Portuguese montado are great examples of European ancient forests Reconstruction of forest ecology management protection and the understanding of these silvicultures from different perspectives are the main values of this monograph The authors would like to make all readers aware of the value of ancient forests as cultural and socioecosystem services
