Engaged Observers Engaged Observers:

Engaged Observers Brett Abbott, 2010 A critical survey of nine documentary photographers who were at the cutting edge of this form of journalism during the second half of the 20th century Engaged Observers shows how since the sixties photographers such as Leonard Freed Susan Meiselas have challenged the conventional objectivity of the newsroom

Engaged Observer Victoria Sanford, Asale Angel-Ajani, 2006 Anthropology has long been associated with an ethos of engagement The field's core methods and practices involve long term interpersonal contact between researchers and their study participants giving major research topics in the field a distinctively human face The fact that these interactions frequently cross social parameters including class race ethnicity and gender raises important questions Can research findings be authentic and objective Are anthropologists able to use their data to aid the participants of their study and is that aid always welcome In this book authors bring together an international array of scholars who have been embedded in some of the most conflict ridden and dangerous zones in the world to reflect on the role and responsibility of anthropological inquiry They explore issues of truth and objectivity the role of the academic the politics of memory and the impact of race gender and social position on the research process Through ethnographic case studies they offer models for conducting engaged research and illustrate the contradictions and challenges of doing so BOOKJACKET Engaged observers Brett
