

The background of the entire image is a painting of a village. It features numerous houses with red-tiled roofs and light-colored walls, some with dark shutters. The houses are built on a hillside, with some perched on rocky outcrops. Several tall, dark, conical cypress trees are scattered throughout the scene. In the background, there are rolling green hills under a deep blue sky. The overall style is reminiscent of a classic oil painting.

Hölzle,2025-10-01 Drawing on two years of ethnographic research in the north eastern borderlands of Bangladesh this book focuses on the everyday struggles of indigenous farmers threatened with losing their land due to such state programmes as the realignment of the national border ecotourism social forestry and the establishment of a military cantonment In implementing these programmes state actors challenge farmers right to land instituting spaces of violence in which multiple forms of marginalisation overlap and are reinforced Mapping how farmers react to these challenges emotionally and practically the book argues that these land conflicts serve as a starting point for existentially charged disputes in which the survival efforts of farmers clash with the political imaginations and practices of the nation state The analysis shows that losing land represents more than being deprived of a material asset it is nothing less than the extinction of ways of life
