A Post-philosophical Essay on Knowledge/power Yin-Bin Ning, 1992

Philosophical Historicism and the Betrayal of First Philosophy Carl Page, 1995 Philosophical historicism argues that human reason is totally and necessarily bound to the contingencies of its historical context In the twentieth century the most arresting development of the historicist attitude has been a growing willingness to include many if not all forms of rational and theoretical activity within the scope of what must be historicized Most striking of all has been the recent emergence among philosophers of the view that the activity of human reason in all its possible modes must also be historicized including the activity of philosophizing itself This view may be found in writers as diverse as Hans Georg Gadamer Richard Rorty Michel Foucault and Alasdair MacIntyre This contemporary view of human reason contrasts with the traditional commitments of First Philosophy Aristotle's name for the knowledge of things through their ultimate causes and principles Philosophical historicism denies that such knowledge may be realized by human beings The stage is thus set for a battle of the giants between two fundamental yet contradictory interpretations of human reason two views of philosophy This book challenges the prevailing historicist orthodoxies about the nature of reason and philosophy It offers the first comprehensive analysis and critique of historicism in its current philosophical form Can philosophical historicism reasonably justify the interpretation of human reason on which its own objections to First Philosophy are based While Carl Page ultimately concludes that it cannot he also seeks to rehabilitate historicism's motivating insights by showing how they derive from questions Hegel and Heidegger raised about reason's relation to history The Journal of Philosophy, 1999

Journal of the Philosophy of Sport, 2001 The Philosophical Review, 1991 International Review for the Sociology of Sport, 1995 Life in a Postmodern Culture, 1995 During the past decade postmodernism has become a much used buzz word For example one hears and reads about postmodern architecture postmodern films a postmodern economy and so forth What precisely is meant by this term Life in a Postmodern Culture attempts to answer this question In the introduction to the book the relation between the modern and the postmodern world is pointed out Following this the significance of postmodernity to various dimensions of life is examined These dimensions include politics art theology economics language science ethics and the cinema Studies in American Fiction, 1996 The Dictionary of Modern American Philosophers: R-Z John R. Shook, Richard T. Hull, 2005 This biographical dictionary contains around 900 entries on philosophers and other intellectuals who impacted philosophical thought in America from 1860 to the present i e 2005
