Multiple Cropping And Tropical Farming Systems Willem C. Beets,2019-03-06 This book covers the uses of tropical farming systems in tropics of mixed strip relay sequential and multistorey cropping It discusses the aspects of the tropical farming systems including their history and agronomy and the plant inter relationship within them

The Biology of Agricultural Systems C. R. W. Spedding,1975

Biological Nitrogen Fixation in Farming Systems of the Tropics ,1975 The Economics of Tropical Farming Systems Martin Upton,1996-12-12 Based on the author s widely used earlier text African Farm Management this account updates the economic analysis of tropical agriculture and broadens its perspective to include examples from all parts of the developing world Writing in a clear concise style Professor Upton explains the essential theories of farm economics without numerous mathematical formulae The text is completely revised with increased emphasis on farm household economics in which farms are seen as consumers as well as producers Also included is a new chapter on the economics of irrigated agriculture This book provides an invaluable economic framework for better understanding the operation and management of farming systems in the tropics and will be welcomed by students of tropical agriculture worldwide From reviews of African Farm Management The author produces an authoritative text interlaced with many relevant and illustrative references Experimental Agriculture IRAT Farming Systems in the Tropics R. Tourte,1979 The included documents are meant to outline for an english speaking reader the main features of the procedure followed by IRAT concerning the study of production systems suited to the conditions of developing countries Farm Management Notes for Asia and the Far East ,1997 Farming in Arid and Semiarid Lands Carol A. Singer,1994 The Impact of Animal Production in Mountainous Farming Systems Development in Northwest of Vietnam Thi-Thanh-Huyen Nguyen,2004 This book presents an analysis of the impact of animal production in mountainous farming systems development in Northwest of Vietnam The research areas are located in a typical transect in the mountainous zones This transect represents a gradient from urban to remote areas with changes in production condition livestock types and breeds degree of market orientation feed stuffs and socio economics conditions knowledge and production habit due to different ethnic groups of the families Information used came from interviews in panel survey collected twice over two years The descriptive analysis historical analysis and comparative analysis show that family resources become increasingly scarce along the gradient from the market proximity to remote areas The economic success follows the same trend with increasing remoteness and the farm off farm and family income decrease The study also found a relation between resource availability for crop and livestock and the size of the land The livestock contribution to income is important for the bigger farms with a low production potential as well as for the small farms with high production potential Fluctuations of resource availability and use over two years show that the resources are over used There is increasing utilisation of land in order to increase income while land quality seems to decrease Results of regression models show that a small change in the animal sector impacts greatly the income and living standard of the families offering an opportunity for the development of mixed farming systems and hinting at its high potential for their future development The impact analyses of potential future strategies were made using linear programming models at family level Increasing the capacity of stables in order to increase herd size as well as comprehensive veterinary care could improve income Improving income for families in remote areas is usually very hard to achieve Strategies and Tactics of Sustainable Agriculture in the Tropics M. Adetola Badejo,2004 Draws attention to the hydra headed problem of attaining sustainability in agro ecosystems of the tropical regions and attempts to shape future agricultural research in these regions where the author argues there is an over reliance on solutions practised in more temperate climes Topics include the potentials of leguminous crop cover systems for sustainable agricultural production managing carbon and nitrogen in tropical organic farming the management of the genetic diversity of maize and the management of fire in agro ecosystems in forest and savannah ecotypes in Nigeria International Workshop on Farming Systems, November 18-21, 1974 ,1975
