Global Conflict Resolution Through Positioning Analysis Fathali M. Moghaddam, Rom Harré, Naomi Lee, 2007-11-15
Positioning theory is the study of the nature formation influence and ways of change of local systems of rights and duties as shared assumptions about them influence small scale interactions Evolving from linguistics origins the theory concerns conventions of speech and action that are labile contestable and ephemeral With this theory researchers are able to examine the dynamic flow of social interaction as well as give equal weight to the role of discourse and the psychological resolution of conflict This volume applies positioning theory in order to achieve a fuller and more in depth understanding of conflict and its psychological resolution The editors approach positioning from the micro interpersonal level all the way to the macro intergroup and international level

Peace Psychology in Asia Cristina Jayme Montiel, Noraini M. Noor, 2009-06-04
In recent years peace psychology has grown from a utopian idea to a means of transforming societies worldwide Yet at the same time peacebuilding enjoys global appeal the diversity of nations and regions demands interventions reflecting local cultures and realities Peace Psychology in Asia shows this process in action emphasizing concepts and methods diverging from those common to the US and Europe Using examples from China India Indonesia the Philippines and elsewhere in the region chapter authors illuminate the complex social political and religious conditions that have fostered war colonialism dictatorships and ethnic strife and the equally intricate personal and collective psychologies that need to be developed to encourage reconciliation forgiveness justice and community Peace Psychology in Asia Integrates psychology history political science and local culture into concepts of peace and reconciliation Highlights the indigenous aspects of peace psychology Explains the critical relevance of local culture and history in peace work Blends innovative theoretical material with empirical evidence supporting peace interventions Balances its coverage among local national regional and global contexts Analyzes the potential of Asia as a model for world peace As practice driven as it is intellectually stimulating Peace Psychology in Asia is vital reading for social and community psychologists policy analysts and researchers in psychology and sociology and international studies including those looking to the region for ideas on peace work in non Western countries

Examining the Phenomenon of "Teaching Out-of-field" Linda Hobbs, Günter Törner, 2019-01-01
This book identifies and surveys the major themes around out of field teaching that is teaching subjects or year levels without a specialization This has been an issue in many countries for some time yet until recently there has been little formal research and poor policy responses to related problems This book arises out of collaborations between members of an international group of researchers and practitioners from Australia Germany Ireland England South Africa Indonesia and the United States Cross national comparisons of ideas through case studies descriptions of practice and research data interrogates the experiences practices and contexts relating to out of field teaching In particular the book considers the phenomenon of out of field teaching in relation to national policy contexts local school leadership practices professional development The book represents an essential contribution on a highly topical issue that has implications for quality and equitable education around the globe

The World According To Israeli Newspapers Margret Müller, 2017-01-26 Since its outbreak the Israeli Palestinian conflict has been shaped by international involvement These external engagements in the conflict are primarily transmitted to Jewish Israelis through the Israeli mass media These media portrayals shape not only perceptions of the global attitudes towards the conflict but in so doing they also influence and legitimize domestic political debates and decisions This research is guided by the question how Israeli newspapers represent international involvement in the Israeli Palestinian conflict How is the involvement contextualized and how qualified Do societal constructs and beliefs shape the media representations and if so in which manner Do media representations differ in times of crisis and routine Margret Müller explores these questions in a content analysis of the four general daily Israeli newspapers media coverage during the Gaza flotilla raid 2010

Speaking of Violence Sara B. Cobb, 2013-08 In the context of ongoing or historical violence people tell stories about what happened who did what to whom and why Yet frequently the speaking of violence reproduces the social fractures and delegitimizes again those that struggle against their own marginalization This speaking of violence deepens conflict and all too often perpetuates cycles of violence Alternatively sometimes people do not speak of the violence and it is erased buried with the bodies that bear it witness This reduces the capacity of the public to address issues emerging in the aftermath of violence and repression This book takes the notion of narrative as foundational to conflict analysis and resolution Distinct from conflict theories that rely on accounts of attitudes or perceptions in the heads of individuals this narrative perspective presumes that meaning structured and organized as narrative processes is the location for both analysis of conflict as well as intervention But meaning is political in that not all stories can be told or the way they are told delegitimizes and erases others Thus the critical narrative theory outlined in this book offers a normative approach to narrative assessment and intervention It provides a way of evaluating narrative and designing better formed stories better in that they are generative of sustainable relations creating legitimacy for all parties In so doing they function aesthetically and ethically to support the emergence of new histories and new futures Indeed critical narrative theory offers a new lens for enabling people to speak of violence in ways that undermine the intractability of conflict
