essential reading for students taking courses in culture economy and inequality and migration taught from a global perspective The Routledge International Handbook of Globalization Studies Bryan Turner, Robert Holton, 2015-12-22 The second edition of the Routledge International Handbook of Globalization Studies offers students clear and informed chapters on the history of globalization and key theories that have considered the causes and consequences of the globalization process There are substantive sections looking at demographic economic technological social and cultural changes in globalization The handbook examines many negative aspects new wars slavery illegal migration pollution and inequality but concludes with an examination of responses to these problems through human rights organizations international labour law and the growth of cosmopolitanism There is a strong emphasis on interdisciplinary approaches with essays covering sociology demography economics politics anthropology and history The second edition has been completely revised and features important new thinking on themes such as Islamophobia and the globalization of religious conflict shifts in global energy production such as fracking global inequalities fiscal transformations of the state and problems of taxation globalization and higher education and an analysis of the general sense of catastrophe that surrounds contemporary understandings of the consequences of a global world The Socio-Political Practice of Human Rights Kiran Kaur Grewal, 2016-06-23 This book examines discourses of rights and practices of resistance in post conflict societies exploring the interaction between the international human rights framework and different actors seeking political and social change Presenting detailed new case studies from Sierra Leone Sri Lanka and Kosovo it reveals the necessity of social scientific interventions in the field of human rights The author shows how a shift away from the realm of normative political or legal theory towards a more sociological analysis promises a better understanding of both the limits of current human rights approaches and possible sites of potential Considering the diverse ways in which human rights are enacted and mobilised The Socio Political Practice of Human Rights engages with major sites of tension and debate examining the question of whether human rights are universal or culturally relative their relationship to forms of economic and political domination the role of law as a mechanism for social change and the ways in which the language of human rights facilitates or closes sites of radical resistance By situating these debates in specific contexts this book concludes by proposing new ways of theorizing human rights Empirically grounded and offering an alternate framework for understanding the fluid and ambiguous operation of power within the theory and practice of human rights this volume will appeal to scholars of sociology law and politics with interests in gender resistance international law human rights and socio legal discourse Eurocentrism at the Margins Lutfi Sunar, 2016-05-05 Eurocentrism remains a prevailing feature of Western dominated social scientific perspectives tending to ignore alternative views originating outside the West and thus maintaining a form of scholarly hegemony As such there is an urgent need to reconsider Eurocentrism in social science to ask whether it constitutes an obstacle to understanding social problems and whether it is possible to go beyond Eurocentrism in the construction of reliable more universal knowledge At the same time certain questions persist particularly with regard to the extent to which recent revisionist challenges have really contributed to the surmounting of Eurocentric domination and whether the constant repetition of the concept serves to reinforce it This book engages with the central problems of Eurocentrism in the social sciences bringing together the work of scholars from around the world to offer a critique of this perspective from both European and non European positions thus shedding light on the binaries that often come into being in debates in this field Thematically organised and addressing a range of questions including Eurocentrism in historical studies in the understanding of religion and civilisation and in the study of international relations as well as in the institutionalisation and professionalisation of research and discourses on modernisation in the Middle East Eurocentrism at the Margins will appeal to scholars with interests in knowledge production and circulation and Eurocentrism and post colonialism in the social sciences
