Video Pedagogy in Action Mary B. McVee, Lynn E. Shanahan, H. Emily Hayden, Fenice B. Boyd, P. David Pearson, 2017-12-12 Combining video analysis with the well known Gradual Release of Responsibility GRR model this book offers teacher educators a fresh perspective and a new tool for supporting teachers

learning and reflection The clearly articulated and useful framework shifts the focus away from children and toward teachers thinking about their own teaching practice Interwoven with practical examples of the framework in use this book identifies ways that teachers and teacher educators can foster more productive kinds of reflection about video recorded classroom interactions and support preservice and inservice teachers Offering key tools such as templates for reflection video viewing guides self analysis checklists and activities this book moves the field forward and establishes video reflection and the GRR process as critical tools for teacher reflection professional development and effective teaching and learning Toward

Critical Multimodality Katarina Silvestri,Nichole Barrett,Tiffany M. Nyachae,2023-06-01 This edited volume seeks to answer the question What does it mean to be a critical multimodal scholar in educational spaces Toward Critical Multimodality highlights how choices made throughout multimodal design and research processes are critically oriented and inextricably linked to power We show how social semiotics and multimodality inform engagement with criticality in educational spaces through questioning dominant narratives e g white cisheteropatriarchal ableist classist perspectives exploring relationships between selves and space problematizing and reimaging educational practices and dreaming of educational futures that are just anti oppressive and with room for all to thrive while learning These chapters demonstrate how studying multiple modalities in interaction e g image writing color spatial layout gaze proxemics gestures can reveal how power operates provide students with opportunities to explore themselves and their identities with respect to power and provide a vehicle for scholars to disrupt and transform oppressive educational practices Furthermore multiple chapters show alternative ways to display construct and share knowledge as transformative pedagogical practice in learning environments We reframe social semiotics and multimodality as an integral part of decentering dominant ideas of power and what counts as purposeful meaning making by highlighting how criticality and multimodality integrate theoretically and methodologically

The Art of Reflective Thinking (UM Press) Adelina Asmawi,2016 If you have been practicing your vocation without critical reflection this book is for you It looks carefully at the need for structured reflectivity within a community of practitioners through an online platform The book also discusses expert mediation of practitioners professional development through the online community It then extends further to include discussions of the gen next s preference for horizontal discourse and multimodality It is hoped that readers would be able to grasp a renewed understanding of reflective practice for professional development Transnational Identities and Practices in English Language Teaching Rashi Jain,Bedrettin

Yazan,Suresh Canagarajah,2021-07-27 The self inquiries in this edited volume exemplify the dynamism that permeates global ELT wherein English language educators and teacher educators are increasingly operating across blurred national boundaries creating new liminal spaces charting new trajectories crafting new practices and pedagogies constructing new identities and reconceptualizing ELT contexts This book captures the diverse voices of emerging and established ELT practitioners and scholars originally from and or operating in non Western contexts spanning not only the so called non

Western peripheries but also peripheries created within the center when certain members are minoritized on the basis of their race language and or place of origin The chapters address a range of related issues occurring at the intersections of personal and professional identities pedagogy and classroom interactions as well as research and professional practices in liminal transnational spaces

Finding Yemaya's Sisters Kathy Neilson,2015 This study documents the three year experience of a group of four women teachers who met regularly to reflect on their practice collaboratively using multimodal forms of expression Prompted by the difficulty of integrating more traditional university based strategies for reflection such as journal writing into their teaching lives they explored their lives within and beyond teaching through conversation poetry photography movement and visual art Their collective practice was informed by theoretical strands well established in teacher education regarding reflection and by feminist critical arts based and multimodal educational theory In this study I document the initial formation of the group and its development into a close knit community and I analyze the wide variety of texts that resulted from this collaboration I examine how engaging in artistic practices enriched the group conversations about teaching and contributed to the development of a reflective discourse that differed from traditional teacher reflective practice in three key ways by acknowledging the presence of the body in reflection by welcoming multiple identities and multiple knowledges and by employing multiple forms of expression I also examine tensions that resulted from my dual position in the group as both a participating teacher inquirer and as a researcher documenter Drawing from a variety of research traditions and methodologies including feminist research participatory action research ethnography arts based inquiry and indigenous research I articulate a credo for research that allowed me to address the conflicts associated with occupying both identity positions simultaneously I offer the perspective that reflection is situated practice and suggest that a broader approach to teacher reflection is needed I suggest that teacher reflective practice can benefit both from a multimodal approach and from the freedom to range freely between identities and life experiences rather than being limited to analysis of educational theory philosophy or classroom experience

Social Diversity within Multiliteracies Fenice B. Boyd,Cynthia H. Brock,2014-12-05 Using a multiliteracies theoretical framework highlighting social diversity and multimodality as central in the process of meaning making this book examines literacy teaching and learning as embedded in cultural linguistic racial sexual and gendered contexts and explores ways to foster learning and achievement for diverse students in various settings Attending simultaneously to topics around two overarching and interrelated themes languages and language variations and cultures ethnicities and identities the chapter authors examine the roles that multiliteracies play in students lives in and out of classrooms In Part I readers are asked to examine beliefs and dispositions as related to different languages language varieties cultures ethnicities and identities Part II engages readers in examining classroom and community practices related to different languages and language varieties cultures ethnicities and identities

popularity as a semiotic approach has not resulted in a common voice yet Its conceptual anchoring as well as its empirical applications often remain localized and disparate and ideas of a theory of multimodality are heterogeneous and uncoordinated For the field to move ahead it must achieve a more mature status of reflection mutual support and interaction with regard to both past and future directions The red thread across the disciplines reflected in this book is a common goal of capturing the mechanisms of synergetic knowledge construction and transmission using diverse forms of expressions i e multimodality The collection of chapters brought together in the book reflects both a diversity of disciplines and common interests and challenges thereby establishing an excellent roadmap for the future The contributions revisit and redefine theoretical concepts or empirical analyses which are crucial to the study of multimodality from various perspectives with a view towards evolving issues of multimodal analysis With this the book aims at repositioning the field as a well grounded scientific discipline with significant implications for future communication research in many fields of study Exploring Diversity Stephen Kroeger, Anne M. Bauer, 2004 The accompanying CD ROM Culturally responsive teaching and leading studies to improve awareness and practice by R Carl Harris et al presents 4 cases that address cultural ethnic linguistic and socioeconomic diversity Primary grades middle school and secondary schools are represented Multimodal Pedagogies in Diverse Classrooms Pippa Stein, 2007-11-07 This book examines how the classroom can become a democratic space and is essential reading for anyone interested in multimodality pedagogy social justice Multimodal Narratives in Research and Teaching Practices Lopes, J. Bernardino, Viegas, Maria Clara, Pinto, José Alexandre, 2019-02-01 While already validated by the scientific community multimodal narratives have the potential for a broader application especially for improved teaching practices from a professional or a theoretical point of view Applying multimodal narratives within professional development courses creates a focus on the teaching practices rather than the content itself Multimodal Narratives in Research and Teaching Practices provides educator and researcher perspectives on the use of multimodal narratives as a tool to reflect and improve teaching practices Covering such topics as professional development online learning and teacher education this publication is designed for educators academicians administrators and researchers Multimodal Composing in Classrooms Suzanne M. Miller, Mary B. McVee, 2013-06-19 Taking a close look at multimodal composing as an essential new literacy in schools this volume draws from contextualized case studies across educational contexts to provide detailed portraits of teachers and students at work in classrooms Authors elaborate key issues in transforming classrooms with student multimodal composing including changes in teachers teaching and learning Six action principles for teaching for embodied learning through multimodal composing are presented and explained The rich illustrations of practice encourage both discussion of practical challenges and dilemmas and conceptualization beyond the specific cases Historically issues in New Literacy Studies multimodality new literacies and multiliteracies have primarily been addressed theoretically promoting a shift in educators thinking about what constitutes literacy teaching and learning in a world no longer bounded by print text only Such theory is necessary and beneficial for re thinking practices What Multimodal Composing in Classrooms contributes to this scholarship are the voices of teachers and students talking about changing practices in real classrooms A Case Book for Exploring Diversity George Redman,2003 With its concrete focused cases the second edition of this casebook again focuses on the wealth of multicultural and diversity issues faced by today s teachers Its thirty six authentic cases offer opportunities for analysis on several levels and are sufficiently complex so as to invite multiple interpretations They present examples of everyday situations involving gender ethnicity race religion language affectional orientation socioeconomic status parents and community even technology The cases involve classroom issues that are relevant to all grade levels and all content areas allowing instructors significant flexibility in their use This book focuses readers on self reflection application and further study Coverage includes the challenges and opportunities offered by teaching and invites future teachers to explore diversity issues more deeply and broadly For professionals in the field of teaching Narrative and Experience in Multicultural Education JoAnn Phillion,Ming Fang He,F. Michael Connelly,2005-03-23 Narrative and Experience in Multicultural Education provides compelling stories that raise questions advance understandings and promote insight into the challenges and hopes of teaching for diversity and democracy The works contained are compelling for the stories they tell and as such there is value in their presence That the thoughtful reader can glean important lessons with respect to multicultural education and the value of narrative inquiry as academic disciplines is intellectual icing on the cake Francisco Rios University of Wyoming This work is a very exciting important and badly needed piece of scholarship offered by some of the most leading edge professors in the field The diversity and diverse viewpoints it presents are unparalleled in the field of education Cheryl J Craig University of Houston The narratives in this book allow readers to put a human face to an issue related to multicultural education A reflective reader will begin to see himself herself in the narratives of the text Edmundo F Litton Loyola Marymount University The inclusion of chapters that deal with classroom realities elevate the text for education teacher candidates above those existing volumes that tend to deal with multi inter cultural issues in the abstract One of the strengths of this volume is that it will resonate with new and experienced classroom practitioners Jon G Bradley McGill University Narrative and Experience in Multicultural Education explores the untapped potential that narrative and experiential approaches have for understanding multicultural issues in education The research featured in the book reflects an exciting new way of thinking about human experience The studies focus on the lives of students teachers parents and communities highlighting experiences seldom discussed in the literature The authors are diverse and their inquiries are far ranging in terms of content ethnic groups studied and geographic locations They also bring their personal experience to the inquiries actively participate in the lives of the people with whom they work care deeply about the concerns of their participants and search for ways to act upon these concerns Most importantly the work emphasizes the understanding of experience and transforming this understanding into social and educational significance Key Features Addresses new ways to explore multicultural issues in education rather than relying on theoretical generalizations the book focuses explicitly on individual and group experiences Emphasizes the transformation of experience into education especially through the study of complex multicultural issues Challenges readers assumptions of multicultural issues by offering numerous narrative accounts and research studies for work with various ethnic groups Narrative and Experience in Multicultural Education is designed for use in courses in multicultural education and qualitative research especially in departments of education anthropology and sociology Professional educators researchers and consultants will also find this a valuable introduction to narrative research and a welcome addition to the literature
