Social Studies - Candidate Name: _____ Question 15 of 15

Answer Explanation: _____ May 14, 2015

Excerpt

"All, too, will feel in mind this sacred principle, that though the will of the majority is in all cases to prevail, that will, to be rightful, must be reasonable; that the minority possess their equal rights, which equal laws must protect, and to which equal laws must be opposed, and to which equal laws must be applied."

— Thomas Jefferson, 1803

Letter
June 15, 1943

To the Editor:

Students and teachers across this land say the pledge of allegiance each day to honor a republic committed to liberty and justice for all. That commitment was reaffirmed yesterday by the Supreme Court's ruling in favor of citizens. Their Board of Education's decision. The ruling struck down an unconstitutional state board's directive that schoolchildren must daily salute the flag while reciting the pledge of allegiance in their classrooms. The Supreme Court challenged the compulsory salute and pledge because it conflicts with their religious beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses. Even so, the Court did not make its ruling based on freedom of religion. Instead, the decision was based, in large part, on freedom of speech.

In your response, develop an argument about how the author's position in his letter reflects the enduring moral expressed in the excerpt from Thomas Jefferson. Incorporate relevant and specific evidence from the excerpt, the letter, and your own knowledge of the evolving issue and the circumstances surrounding the case to support your analysis.

Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 2008 The Times of Their Lives A. W. R. Whittle, 2018 The Times of their Lives explains how archaeologists can now move away from thinking about history in terms of thousands of years to periods from one or two centuries down to lifetimes and generations a little more than two decades This vastly improved precision comes from the application of Bayesian chronological frameworks for the interpretation of radiocarbon dates If they do the right things archaeologists in general and prehistorians in particular need not confine themselves any longer to the long term which has often been seen as the defining currency of the discipline 0 Many prehistorians are still uncomfortable with the choice of narratives now available or have not yet critically rethought old habits This book will show how temporally much more precise accounts of the past can be achieved across a broad range of contexts and situations It offers a series of case studies across much of the continent to provide much more precise timings of key features and trends in the European Neolithic sequence than are currently available and to construct much more precise estimates of the duration of events and phenomena From these there is the possibility to open up new insights into the tempo of change through the detailed study of selected sites and situations across the span of the European Neolithic
