for program Sustainment how to make durable educational changes Written by an award winning author David Baine academic and practitioner If you want to improve student achievements this is a must have Guide Leading Educational Change Wisely Christopher M. Branson,2010-01-01 Despite over 40 years of research and writing about how to lead educational change we still can't get it right Although we keep fine tuning our present ways we are yet to come up with an approach that enables educational change to happen successfully and sustainably Although this book acknowledges the importance of learning from our past it also highlights a key deficiency that has consistently compromised these efforts To date our approach to leading educational change has mainly focussed on trying to come up with the perfect practical strategy or plan In contrast this book argues that leading educational change successfully is not about following a clearly defined process like following a recipe but it is an improvisational art more like driving down a busy main street during peak hour traffic The successful leadership of educational change is an improvisational art because although the leader needs to have an overarching strategy a guiding plan what they actually do from moment to moment cannot be scripted The leader has to move back and forth from their plan to the reality currently being experienced so that the plan is being achieved but any adverse effects on those involved are being empathically and immediately attended to as well This approach to the leadership of educational change emphasises the need of the leader to be able to cope with the unforeseen the unexpected and the idiosyncratic Moreover this approach to the leadership of educational change emphasises the relational as well as the rational requirements While such views might be familiar to many what is new and unique about this book is that it describes how it all can be achieved It provides clear research supported guidance for those who wish to finally lead successful and sustainable educational change Educational Change in South Africa ,2019-02-11 The literature on Educational Change has been dominated by research published in the established liberal democracies This volume examines Educational Change in South Africa a country undergoing rapid social and political change and situated geographically historically and culturally in the South What are the meanings and processes of change How do we explain the contours and contexts of change What has changed What has remained the same Decision Making in Educational Leadership Stephanie Chitpin,Colin W. Evers,2014-06-05 The increased focus on raising standards in education requires leaders to engage in complex decision making about teacher assessment mandated accountability measures and the collection and use of large amounts of data Showcasing exemplary practices of school and district administrators Decision Making in Educational Leadership covers issues concerning the role of emotion ethical and legal ramifications the use of data and complexity in decision making Chapter authors in this research based volume explore what administrators and school leaders actually know about educational problems how they draw upon and revise theories of action for responding to problems and which theories are tenable in educational decision making This important resource provides a broad and international perspective on effective models and methods of educational decision making and shares valuable knowledge about how theory can be translated into practice in a variety of school settings Reforming Teaching and Teacher Education Eija Kimonen, Raimo Nevalainen, 2017-03-21 What are the prerequisites for reforming education and how can these reforms be seen in school development and culture How should teacher education support this reform process What are the principles and practices underlying the functioning of the schools of tomorrow These questions are examined in this unique volume The authors in this book argue that the central function of teacher education and education in general is to respond to the challenges brought on by the twenty first century According to this approach the competencies and skills needed in the future are not merely a new addition to school activities but rather something requiring a comprehensive reform of school culture encompassing teacher education curricula and teaching methods Such a fundamental process of change in the action and thinking models used by schools would be an effort to achieve a complete transformation the result of which would be schools developing into organizations that are both creative and imbued with a strong sense of community A central attribute is that the creation of new knowledge is not just restricted to the classroom but also takes place in out of school environments This would link learning to its natural context eventually leading to an ideal instruction that is actively problem oriented holistic and life centered This reform minded volume is divided into three parts The first part focuses on the reform processes in teacher education the second on the reforms of pedagogics at schools and teacher education institutions and the third on the processes of reculturing schools New prospects for active schools in the United States and Europe as well as in Japan and China are discussed The Practice and Theory of School Improvement David Hopkins, 2005-10 ANDY HARGREAVES Department of Teacher Education Curriculum and Instruction Lynch School of Education Boston College MA U S A ANN LIEBERMAN Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching Stanford CA U S A MICHAEL FULLAN Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Canada DAVID HOPKINS Department for Education and Skills London U K This set of four volumes on Educational Change brings together evidence and insights on educational change issues from leading writers and researchers in the field from across the world Many of these writers whose chapters have been specially written for these books have been investigating helping initiate and implementing educational change for most or all of their lengthy careers Others are working on the cutting edge of theory and practice in educational change taking the field in new or even more challenging directions And some are more skeptical about the literature of educational change and the assumptions on which it rests They help us to approach projects of understanding or initiating educational change more deeply reflectively and realistically Educational change and reform have rarely had so much prominence within public policy in so many different places Educational change is ubiquitous It figures large in Presidential and Prime Ministerial speeches It is at or near the top of many National policy agendas Everywhere educational change is not only a policy priority but also major public news Yet action to bring about educational change usually exceeds people s understanding of how to do so effectively Teacher's Personality and Professionalism Jaan Mikk, Marika Veisson, Piret

Luik,2010 The papers in this collection analyse the professionalism of teachers in Estonia and neighbouring countries from several perspectives Data from the OECD TALIS survey have been used to study the transformation of the teaching profession in recent years As Estonia is bicultural one paper deals with the transition to Estonian as the language of instruction in Russian medium schools Teacher professionalism is related to communication skills and this is also explored It is generally accepted that teachers beliefs guide them in their daily work and so three papers deal with the professional self and self efficacy beliefs among teachers In addition an adaptation of the Teacher Efficacy Scale to the Estonian context is presented The professional experience of young teachers is analysed and a comparison of the school practicum in teacher training in the Netherlands Estonia and Finland is explored Finally the stress that teachers experience has been studied along with the preferred strategies for coping International Handbook of Educational Reform Peter W. Cookson,Alan R. Sadovnik,Susan F. Semel,1992-06-23 Education has changed much especially during the last decade This comprehensive reference offers a systematic overview of developments in educational policy and practice around the world The editors have selected roughly 30 representative countries many of which are significant because of their power and population Each chapter written by an expert contributor treats educational reform in a particular nation The chapters place educational reform within philosophical historical political social and economic contexts and the consideration of common issues makes this volume a valuable source of comparative information The contributors employ a uniform approach throughout the work The issues discussed in each chapter include the impact of economic development educational expansion literacy movements achievement levels pedagogic and curriculum reform minority groups and women public and private education and the role of the State The final chapters examine several significant trends in greater detail Educators and policy makers will rely on this book as an indispensable reference tool Boletin Internacional de Bibliografia Sobre Educacion ,2000 Promoting Early Reading Michael C.
