Exxon The Road Not Taken:

Exxon Neela Banerjee, John H. Cushman (Jr.), David Hasemyer, Lisa Song, 2015 Relying on primary sources dating back to the 1970s describes how Exxon conducted cutting edge climate research and then without revealing what it had learned worked at the forefront of climate change denial manufacturing doubt about the scientific consensus that its own research had confirmed Adapted from publisher's description Plastic Unlimited Alice Mah, 2022-04-21 Despite the global movement to tackle plastic pollution demand for plastics continues to rise As the world transitions away from fossil fuels plastics are set to be the biggest driver of oil demand Single use plastics deemed essential in the fight against COVID 19 have been given a new lease of life In a world beset with crisis fatigue what can we do to curb the escalating plastics crisis In this book Alice Mah reveals how petrochemical and plastics corporations have fought relentlessly to protect and expand plastics markets in the face of existential threats to business From denying the toxic health effects of plastics to co-opting circular economy solutions to plastic waste and exploiting the opportunities offered up by the global pandemic industry has deflected attention from the key problem plastics production The consequences of unfettered plastics growth are pernicious and highly unequal We all have a part to play in reducing plastics consumption but we must tackle the problem at its root the capitalist imperative for limitless growth At Home on an Unruly Planet Madeline Ostrander, 2022-08-02 One of Kirkus Reviews 100 Best Nonfiction Books of 2022 A gold Nautilus Book Award winner Ecology Environment From rural Alaska to coastal Florida a vivid account of Americans working to protect the places they call home in an era of climate crisis How do we find a sense of home and rootedness in a time of unprecedented upheaval What happens when the seasons and rhythms in which we have built our lives go off kilter Once a distant forecast climate change is now reaching into the familiar threatening our basic safety and forcing us to reexamine who we are and how we live In At Home on an Unruly Planet science journalist Madeline Ostrander reflects on this crisis not as an abstract scientific or political problem but as a palpable force that is now affecting all of us at home She offers vivid accounts of people fighting to protect places they love from increasingly dangerous circumstances A firefighter works to rebuild her town after catastrophic western wildfires A Florida preservationist strives to protect one of North America's most historic cities from rising seas An urban farmer struggles to transform a California city plagued by fossil fuel disasters An Alaskan community heads for higher ground as its land erodes Ostrander pairs deeply reported stories of hard won optimism with lyrical essays on the strengths we need in an era of crisis The book is required reading for anyone who wants to make a home in the twenty first century Climate Crisis and the Kleptocene Wendy Lynne Lee, 2024-12-15 In Climate Crisis and the Kleptocene On The Commodification of Sentience the author argues that capitalism is not merely a system of economic exchange but an ideology of value that in virtue of the existential demand for permanent growth must reduce other forms of value moral civic and aesthetic to exchange value The ontology of capital accumulation can neither afford nor accede to any exemption to its fundamentally kleptocratic logic of commodification Thus among its most significant originary acts is to nullify the value of sentience as an obstacle to commodification A number of well known environmental writers including David Wallace Wells Michael Mann Gary Francione and Jason Moore however miss this critical element of the ontology of capital and thereby end up either defending reformist incarnations of capital conquest or as Andreas Malm puts it offering hybridist and ultimately self defeating accounts of the history of capitalism Malm s own realist account however does not go quite far enough to see beyond human chauvinism down to the roots of the logic of commodification namely that nothing sentient or non sentient living or nonliving organic or inorganic is irreducible to the exchange value of an ideology whose essence is grow or die Climate Church, Climate World Jim Antal,2018-02-19 Climate Church Climate World argues that climate change is the greatest moral challenge humanity has ever faced Hunger refugees poverty inequality deadly viruses war climate change multiplies all forms of global social injustice Environmental leader Reverend Jim Antal presents a compelling case that it s time for the church to meet this moral challenge just as the church addressed previous moral challenges Antal calls for the church to embrace a new vocation so that future generations might live in harmony with God s creation After describing how we have created the dangers our planet now faces Antal urges the church to embrace a new vocation one focused on collective salvation and an expanded understanding of the Golden Rule Golden Rule 2 0 He suggests ways people of faith can reorient what they prize through new approaches to worship preaching witnessing and other spiritual practices that honor creation and cultivate hope

Local Activism for Global Climate Justice Patricia E. Perkins,2019-09-06 This book will inspire and spark grassroots action to address the inequitable impacts of climate change by showing how this can be tackled and the many benefits of doing so With contributions from climate activists and engaged young authors this volume explores the many ways in which people are proactively working to advance climate justice The book pays special attention to Canada and the Great Lakes watershed showing how the effects of climate change span local regional and global scales through the impact of extreme weather events such as floods and droughts with related economic and social effects that cross political jurisdictions Examining examples of local level activism that include organizing for climate resilient and equitable communities the dynamic leadership of Indigenous peoples especially women for water and land protection and diaspora networking Local Activism for Global Climate Justice also provides theoretical perspectives on how individual action relates to broader social and political processes Showcasing a diverse range of inspirational and thought provoking case studies this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate justice climate change policy climate ethics and global environmental governance as well as teachers and climate activists The Global Politics of Artificial Intelligence Maurizio Tinnirello,2022-04-24 Technologies such as artificial intelligence have led to significant advances in science and medicine but have also facilitated new forms of repression policing and surveillance AI policy has become without doubt a significant issue of global politics The Global Politics of Artificial Intelligence tackles some of the issues linked to AI development and use contributing to a better understanding of the global politics of AI This is an area where enormous work still needs to be done and the contributors to this volume provide significant input into this field of study to policy makers academics and society at large Each of the chapters in this volume works as freestanding contribution and provides an accessible account of a particular issue linked to AI from a political perspective Contributors to the volume come from many different areas of expertise and of the world and range from emergent to established authors Chapter 2 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

A World of Wounds Nancy J. Manring, 2025-11-04 At the end of the Reagan administration American public opinion polls showed there were no discernible differences based on political party in response to the question Do you consider yourself an environmentalist However in the early 1990s a partisan gulf between conservatives and liberals emerged around environmental issues Today half as many Republicans self identify as environmentalists when compared to Democrats Political stagnation on climate action in turn has led to a growing number of Americans of all ages who experience ecological grief known as solastalgia and eco anxiety a chronic fear of environmental doom These emotions emerged in response to the existential distress associated with living in a world of relentless environmental damage and irreversible ecological losses a world of wounds This book offers an antidote to political frustration and hopelessness Nancy J Manring provides an indispensable analysis of the multi decade conservative war against American environmentalism and maps out realistic strategies for rebuilding a bipartisan environmental movement Nurturing authentic hope in contrast to blind optimism or false promises begins with an unflinching look at both planetary and political realities Choosing authentic hope is an ongoing process that requires emotional honesty courage and action This forceful book serves as both a tool for change and a spirited scholarly intervention ensuring a stable economical and sustainable energy supply The authors locate the energy crisis in its historical context and find that contrary to popular opinion the Arab oil embargo was not responsible for the energy crisis Rather they contend the crisis was caused by a series of short sighted policy decisions meant to bring Americans cheaper energy and a cleaner environment The contributors to The Energy Crisis conclude that the crisis was resolved by a combination of market forces and government intervention and they offer perspectives on the need to sustain long term interest in public private partnerships in the face of short term political and economic demands
