Eye Acupuncture Therapy:

Eye Acupuncture Therapy Xin Zhao, Wang, Tai, 1997      Lacrimal Gland, Tear Film, and Dry Eye Syndromes 2 David A. Sullivan, Darlene A. Dartt, Michele A. Meneray, 2012-12-06 During the past two decades a significant international research effort has been directed toward understanding the composition and regulation of the precorneal tear film. This effort has been motivated by the recognition that the tear film plays an essential role in maintaining corneal and conjunctival integrity, protecting against microbial challenge and preserving visual acuity. In addition, research has been stimulated by the knowledge that alteration or deficiency of the tear film, which occurs in countless individuals throughout the world, may lead to desiccation of the ocular surface, ulceration and perforation of the cornea, an increased incidence of infectious disease, and potentially pronounced visual disability and blindness. To promote further progress in this field of vision research, the Second International Conference on the Lacrimal Gland, Tear Film, and Dry Eye Syndromes: Basic Science and Clinical Relevance was held at the Southampton Princess Resort in Bermuda, November 16-19, 1996. This conference was organized and directed by David A. Sullivan, Ph.D., codirected by Darlene A. Dartt, Ph.D., and Michele A. Meneray, Ph.D., and sponsored by the Schepens Eye Research Institute, Boston, MA, an affiliate of Harvard Medical School. The meeting was designed to assess critically the current knowledge and state of the art research on the structure and function of lacrimal tissue, tears, and the ocular surface in both health and disease.      Revealing neural plasticity in responding to non-invasive physical therapies via fMRI

Split into seven sections, the book begins by establishing the roots of WMA in the Introduction and then progresses on to describe the mechanisms of action in Section 2, including peripheral components of stimulation and evidence from neuroimaging. Sections 3 and 4 cover clinical approaches, e.g., superficial needling, electroacupuncture, safety of acupuncture, and techniques related to acupuncture, TENS, laser therapy. Section 5 takes a closer look at the difficulties faced by trials and reviews, while Section 6 goes on to showcase 21 clinical uses of WMA, ranging from chronic pain, mental health, obstetrics, and primary care to sports medicine, respiratory conditions, and neurology.
