The Polymerase Chain Reaction Kary B. Mullis,Francois Ferre,Richard A. Gibbs,2012-02-02 James D Watson When in late March of 1953 Francis Crick and I came to write the first Nature paper describing the double helical structure of the DNA molecule Francis had wanted to include a lengthy discussion of the genetic implications of a molecule whose struc ture we had divined from a minimum of experimental data and on theoretical argu ments based on physical principles But I felt that this might be tempting fate given that we had not yet seen the detailed evidence from King s College Nevertheless we reached a compromise and decided to include a sentence that pointed to the biological significance of the molecule s key feature the complementary pairing of the bases It has not escaped our notice Francis wrote that the specific pairing that we have postulated immediately suggests a possible copying mechanism for the genetic material By May when we were writing the second Nature paper I was more confident that the proposed structure was at the very least substantially correct so that this second paper contains a discussion of molecular self duplication using templates or molds We pointed out that as a consequence of base pairing a DNA molecule has two chains that are complementary to each other Each chain could then act as a template for the formation on itself of a new companion chain so that eventually we shall have two pairs of chains where we only had one before and moreover The Template Spring Yuen Ching Fung,1994 Wildlife Ecology and
