

Graduation Commencement Speech
May 7, 2016

By Michael N. Couick

Thank you President McConnell, Chairman Padgett, Trustees, graduates and other friends.

When President McConnell asked me to speak to you, I asked a favor. Please let me talk to my people. I want to talk to those brave souls who put their chips down on a degree like history, philosophy, or anthropology. Those brave enough to follow their own dreams rather than to just lease out their lifetime. You are my people, and I stand before you with my degree in English Literature—with a fondness for the wit of Jonathan Swift and a passion for the poetry of Robert Browning—to say:

1. You can both make ends meet and make a difference
2. Knowledge is never wasted, and
3. Each of you has a purpose.

The Cistern Yard is beautiful. It has to be the most beautiful graduation venue in America. And why not! It is in America's most beautiful and historic city. Oh, to be 21 again for just today. I'd have a hard time choosing between listening to Runaway Gin or BYOG at The Pour House, or kiteboarding on a northeasterly breeze at Breach Inlet. Probably both — with a burger from Poe's sandwiched in between.

Take two trips with me this afternoon. Let's leave the "here and now" for at least a few minutes.

For our first trip, start by looking up at these majestic Live Oaks. Think of all they have witnessed. From acorn to gnarled giants. Close your eyes. (Really. Just for a minute.) Focus on your breathing. Relax. Breathe.

Now. Capture a mental snapshot of the answer to this question: "Where are you from?"

Yes, where are you from? What do you see? What do you feel? Some good, some maybe not so good.

Open your eyes.

Let me share my mental snapshot: I am nine years old. Laying on my back. In the middle of a pasture near Clover, South Carolina. Green grass, white-head cows grazing around me. I hear the call of a bobwhite. I smell wild onions and grass clipped by a mower. I watch the reds, the pinks, and the oranges of the celestial crayon box melt to form a sunset. All is good. All is well. I

Elementary Valedictorian Speech Ideas:

Pedagogies of Resistance Margaret Crocco, Petra Munro Hendry, 1999 The stories of six women for whom a career in education serves as leverage to live their lives as agents of change By profiling women as educational activists the book challenges historical interpretations that have cast women as passive in the face of educational change Blinded By Faith Keith Marcinkus, 2021-08-01 SEE HOW FAITH SHAPES US ALL For centuries ideas based upon the Christian faith shaped how most people in Western Civilization understood the world Clearly this is no longer the case For many those Biblical convictions have been replaced by various concepts and theories like evolution uniformitarianism moral relativism religious relativism etc We all know these ideas have powerfully influenced society But most do not realize that like the Christian convictions they have supplanted they too are built upon a foundation of faith Revealing the battle over hearts and minds Blinded by Faith Uncovers Naturalism the faith based foundation of many modern ideas Shows you how Christianity and Naturalism lead to very different views of the same world Enables you to examine the Naturalistic faith its development and the ideas it has inspired within the context of a Biblical view of history Demonstrates how this modern faith is fundamentally changing American society Provides you with insight on how Naturalistic ideas are setting the stage for specific prophecy to be fulfilled Equips you to stand confidently and boldly on God s word putting your doubts to rest concerning the relevancy of the Bible in a world confused and darkened by faith based ideas contrary to it Blinded by Faith will open your eyes to the pivotal role faith plays in all our worldviews and how the colliding of the two most prominent belief systems in our society have created irreconcilable divides Whether the cultural wars revolve around science historical narratives human rights abortion school curriculums sexuality marriage public policy or even reality itself it is essential to understand that at the heart of these conflicts frequently lie two clashing faiths Naturalism and Christianity In the end only one is worthy of your trust Only one will give you discernment to comprehend the events and weather the storms that surely lie ahead of us The other will blind you from the truth The Tao of Parenting Greta K. Nagel, 1998-11-01 Applying the ancient yet timeless 81 principles of Taoism to parenting The Tao Of Parenting features instructive anecdotes from four families to demonstrate how Taoist teachings help parents raise good healthy children The stories are just as diverse as the families who tell them a blended family featuring children from separate marriages a couple with different cultural and ethical backgrounds a single parent of twin boys and a couple with different parenting techniques learning to compromise Some of the Taoist principles used by these families include Do Not Think of Self Shows the rewards parents receive by making their children their number one priority The material is fleeting the spiritual is everlasting Demonstrates the rewards of caring for those in need Do Not Be Authoritarian Shows how to foster self reliance and responsibility in children while supporting their efforts rather than controlling their every move Follow the middle road it is the heart of knowing Offers the benefits of parents being neither too permissive or too strict but rather adjusting the rules for each child and each circumstance There are many more valuable lessons in this special book which can be used by parents of all faiths to help guide their lives and those of their children

Through Jamaican Lenses Fern June Khan, 2024-08-30 Born and raised on the island of Jamaica Fern June Khan has valued and embraced Jamaica in each stage of her life Despite the island's economic and educational challenges during her youth Khan's childhood was a colorful one replete with the vibrant culture of the island endlessly supportive role models and a complex social tapestry Her early experiences empowered Khan to develop an unwavering sense of self as she progressed into adulthood and moved to the United States Through Jamaican Lenses A Memoir celebrates Khan's joyful upbringing journey to a new environment and her many educational and professional accomplishments Centering on her early life in Jamaica in the 1940s and 50s this memoir reveals Khan's childhood as one rich with opportunities to observe and experience the complexities of Jamaican life and history Khan's childhood memories revel in the community's vivid folklore Jamaica's music and food and popular idioms and sayings as well as the implications of color and class Then a British colony Jamaica still bore the legacies and social impacts of slavery and emancipation Jamaica was becoming increasingly globalized and along with that transition came a growing interest in cultural exchange Stories of economic success poured in from relatives and friends who had traveled abroad whether as seasonal workers or as immigrants As Khan grew ambition brought her to the United States as a foreign student She graduated from New York University with a BSc in sociology and a graduate degree in social work Following a brief career in social work Khan next cultivated a forty four year career in higher education using her social work skills to inform her work developing education programs for children youth and adults alike in New York City and beyond Bolstered by her early education in Jamaica these achievements would not have been possible without the support of her community Examining not only Jamaica's contribution to the arts its customs and traditions and its social and cultural heritage Through Jamaican Lenses explores honestly the diasporic experience of Caribbean immigration postcolonialism collective and individual memory and transnational identity Woke Is Not Enough T.
