Enemies Of Rome Barbarians Through Roman Eyes:

Enemies of Rome Iain Ferris, 2003-11-18 The artists of Ancient Rome portrayed the barbarian enemies of the empire in sculpture reliefs metalwork and jewellery Enemies of Rome shows how the study of these images can reveal a great deal about the barbarians as well as Roman art and the Romans view of themselves

Enemies of Rome I. M. Ferris, 2000 The history of the Roman Empire was one of conflict with victory over the various barbarian peoples whose lands lay adjacent to the Roman empire The enemies of Rome were a recurring theme in Roman art There are countless surviving sculptures reliefs pieces of metalwork jewelry which take as their subject these barbarian peoples The book examines the literary historical background to these works exposing the deep seated Roman fear of the barbarian or primitive Analyzes the development of an artistic tradition that reflected the increasing power of barbarians within the empire demonstrates that as the empire declined the savage characteristics of the barbarians came to be portrayed as virtues rather than vices Ill

Cultural Identity in the Ancient Mediterranean Erich S. Gruen, 2011 Cultural identity in the classical world is explored from a variety of angles

Barbarian or Greek? Stamenka Antonova, 2018-11-01 In her book Barbarian or Greek The Charge of Barbarism and Early Christian Apologetics Stamenka Antonova examines different aspects of the charge of barbarism in the Greek and Latin Christian apologetic texts 2 4th centuries and the various responses to it by the early Christians The author demonstrates that the charge of barbarism encompasses a broad range of meanings such as low social class inadequate education immorality criminal activity political treason as well as foreign ethnicity and language In addition to contextualizing the charge of barbarism in ancient rhetorical practices the author also applies literary criticism and post colonial theory to shed light on the concept of the barbarian as an ideological rhetorical tool for othering marginalization and persecution in the Roman Empire

A Map of the Body, a Map of the Mind: Visualising Geographical Knowledge in the Roman World Iain Ferris, 2024-06-13 This study considers the relationship between geography and power in the Roman world most particularly the visualisation of geographical knowledge in myriad forms of geography products geographical treatises histories poems personifications landscape representations images of barbarian peoples maps itineraries and imported foodstuffs

Apostle to the Conquered, paperback edition Davina C. Lopez, 2010-10-01 Apostle to the Conquered reveals the subversive heart of Paul s theology reframing his conversion in terms of consciousness and his exhortations as a politics of the new creation

Caesar Rules Olivier Hekster, 2022-12-08 A riveting portrayal of what the inhabitants of the Roman Empire expected of their ruler and their feelings about him

Faith and Freedom in Galatia and Senegal Aliou Cissé Niang, 2009 Faith and Freedom in Galatia and Senegal reads Galatians 2 11 15 and 3 26 29 through the lens of the 19th 20th century experiences of French colonialism by the Diola people in Senegal West Africa and portrays the Apostle Paul as a sociopostcolonial hermeneut who acted on his self understanding as God s messenger to create through faith in the cross of Christ free communities a self definition that is critical of ancient Graeco Roman and modern colonial lore that justify colonization as a divine mandate Aliou C Niang ingeniously compares the colonial objectification of his own people by French colonists to the Graeco Roman colonial objectifications of the ancient Celts Gauls Galatians and Paul's role in bringing about a different portrayal Race Denise Eileen McCoskey, 2021-03-25 How do different cultures think about race In the modern era racial distinctiveness has been assessed primarily in terms of a person's physical appearance But it was not always so As Denise McCoskey shows the ancient Greeks and Romans did not use skin colour as the basis for categorising ethnic disparity The colour of one's skin lies at the foundation of racial variability today because it was used during the heyday of European exploration and colonialism to construct a hierarchy of civilizations and then justify slavery and other forms of economic exploitation Assumptions about race thus have to take into account factors other than mere physiognomy This is particularly true in relation to the classical world In fifth century Athens racial theory during the Persian Wars produced the categories Greek and Barbarian and set them in brutal opposition to one another a process that could be as intense and destructive as black and white in our own age Ideas about race in antiquity were therefore completely distinct but as closely bound to political and historical contexts as those that came later This provocative book boldly explores the complex matrices of race and the differing interpretations of ancient and modern across epic tragedy and the novel Ranging from Theocritus to Toni Morrison and from Tacitus and Pliny to Bernal's seminal study Black Athena this is a powerful and original new assessment Roman & Byzantine Antiquities in the National Museum of Ireland National Museum of Ireland, Lynda Mulvin, 2006 Barbarians in the Early Empire Teresa R. Ramsby, 2001 The Archaeology of Roman Towns J. S. Wachter, 2003 These twenty six papers written in honour of John Wachter take a new look at the towns of Roman Britain western Europe and beyond With subjects ranging from Ancyra to Wroxeter from urban art to waste water this collection complements Wachter's seminal publication Towns of Roman Britain 1974 and its companion volume The Small Towns of Roman Britain 1990 The Journal of Classics Teaching, 2005 How Much of the Florence Baptistery is a Surviving Roman Building? Larry Shenfield, 2008 Arguably the most enigmatic building in the city the famous octagonal Baptistery in Florence has given rise to more debate on archaeological architectural and artistic grounds than probably any other building in all of Italy A span of some thousand years from the fifth to the fifteenth centuries separates the periods to which the building we see today has been variously and confidently ascribed Gathering the available evidence and weighing the merits of the theories put forward in the past the author opts for the building's completion in the thirteenth century arguing that there were two San Giovanni's a small Baptistery built in front of the fifth century first cathedral of Santa Reparata and its eleventh century Romanesque successor a much enlarged rebuilding of it designed for defence in perilous times of civil strife and later by the thirteenth century graced by today's colourfully bright marble decoration Roman Portraits in Context Jane Fejfer, 2008 The highest honour a Roman citizen could hope for was a portrait statue in the forum of his city While the emperor and high senatorial officials were routinely awarded statues strong competition existed among local benefactors to obtain this honour which proclaimed and perpetuated the memory of the patron and his family for generations There were many ways to earn a portrait statue but such local figures often had to wait until they had passed away before the public finally fulfilled their expectations It is argued in this book that our understanding and contemplation of a Roman portrait statue is greatly enriched when we consider its wider historical context its original setting the circumstances of its production and style and its base which in many cases bore a text that contributed to the rhetorical power of the image

The Classical Review, 2003      With Unperfumed Voice Frederick E. Brenk, 2007

Classical scholars tend to work with a narrow focus specialising on particular subject areas Frederick Brenk is an exception he is still a specialist but as this third volume of his collected essays makes clear a multiple specialist as skilled in dealing with visual materials as with texts with epigraphy as with prosopography with Christian writers as with pagan with Egypt as with Greece with style and language as with philosophy and religion Few scholars have such wide learning and fewer still can use it to weave together insights from so many different ways of thinking feeling seeing and writing
