Food Security And Risk Reduction In Bangladesh Disaster Risk Reduction:

Food Security and Risk Reduction in Bangladesh Umma Habiba, Md. Anwarul Abedin, Abu Wali Raghieb Hassan, Rajib Shaw, 2015-03-18 This book draws examples from food security issues in Bangladesh. The book is structured around those issues and underlying causes of food security, the implications from different sectors, policy analysis, and the role and actions of various stakeholders from different sectors to ensure food security. Bangladesh is situated in a climatically vulnerable position and is impacted frequently by such climatic hazards as floods, cyclones, droughts, and salinity intrusion. Due to global atmospheric changes, abrupt shifts in climatic conditions severely affect Bangladesh's agriculture. Although Bangladesh has made significant progress in increasing domestic production of food grain, if the production of major cereals is hampered due to climate change, food security will be in jeopardy. Most estimates show that a huge amount of additional food grain will be required to feed the growing population of the country. Ensuring food security for all is the overarching goal of Bangladesh's national food policy. Therefore, ensuring food security in the future requires a great deal of additional effort in yield improvement with limited scope for expanding the area under cultivation. The primary target readers for this book are students and researchers in the fields of environment, disaster risk reduction, and climate change studies. The book will provide them with a good idea of the current trend of research in the field and will furnish basic knowledge on this important topic. Another target group comprises practitioners and policy makers who will be able to apply collective knowledge to policy and decision making.

Bangladesh II: Climate Change Impacts, Mitigation and Adaptation in Developing Countries Md. Nazrul Islam, André van Amstel, 2021-08-03 This volume aims to develop a framework for disaster and climate risk resilient livelihood system in Bangladesh using a policy oriented approach. It highlights the possible impacts of climate change on groundwater based irrigation in the country. Climate change is one of the biggest challenges to society. It can lead to serious impacts on production, life, and environment on a global scale. Higher temperatures and sea level rise will cause flooding and water salinity problems which will bring about negative effects on agriculture and high risks to industry and socio-economic systems in the future. Climate change will lead to many changes in global development and security, especially energy, water, food, society, job, diplomacy, culture, economy, and trade. The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) defines climate change as any change in climate over time, whether due to natural variability or as a result of human activity. Global climate change has emerged as a key issue in both political and economic arenas. It is an increasingly questioned phenomenon, and progressive national governments around the world have started taking action to respond to these environmental concerns.

Disaster Risk Management in Agriculture Huong Ha, R. Lalitha S. Fernando, Sanjeev Kumar Mahajan, 2019-03-20 The challenges related to disaster risk management (DRM) in the agricultural sector are now widely linked to sustainable environment. The fact remains that almost every day a disaster strikes in some part of the world. The regular occurrence of natural and man-made disasters has forced the worldwide communities to look for novel solutions to prevent and mitigate such disasters This volume brings together probing studies to disseminate the work of outstanding scholars and practitioners especially in South Asian countries Thus it highlights the need to amalgamate and coordinate the resources and agencies involved in DRM in agriculture to ensure the quality of life to the victims after disasters The authors incorporate specific themes correlated with DRM in South Asia They intend to assess i the consequences of distinct disaster risks in agriculture ii the ways in which diverse disaster risk problems are handled in distinct settings and iii the different methodologies embraced by different sectors to prepare for disaster risk Climate Change Mitigation and Adaptation to Improve Food Security in South Asia Rafiq Islam,AHM Mustafizur Rahman,Heulin Thierry,Mannava Sivakumar,2025-06-26 Both food security and agriculture contribute to and are affected by global climate change The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change reports that food production systems account for up to 37% of global greenhouse gas emissions At the same time these systems are increasingly vulnerable to climate change with extreme weather events such as rising temperatures flooding drought secondary salinity and land degradation threatening food security in South Asia Additionally the spread of weeds pests and diseases due to shifting climates exacerbates these challenges The strain on agriculture and food security from accelerated climate change is further worsening by rapid population growth Globally more than 820 million people suffer from hunger and by 2050 food production will need to double to meet global demands This intensification of farming combined with climate change will lead to greater reliance on reactive chemicals water and energy inputs potentially damaging agroecosystem services and becoming increasingly difficult to manage South Asia with its high population growth is particularly vulnerable to climate impacts such as flooding salinity droughts and solar dimming Rising sea levels and coastal erosion could result in the loss of 17% of land surface and 30% of food production by 2050 Agriculture and food systems must undergo innovative transformations to address these challenges A comprehensive Climate Change Adaption Framework is essential for fostering a supportive policy environment sharing information on climate impacts and adapting climate smart agriculture to enhance food security in South Asia This book based on the outcomes of the 2022 International Conference on Climate Change and Food security in South Asia held in Dhaka Bangladesh explores key challenges and innovative solutions for mitigating and adapting to the impact of climate change on food security The State of Food Security and Nutrition in the World 2018 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund,World Health Organization ,World Food Programme ,International Fund for Agriculture Development,2018-09-12 New evidence this year corroborates the rise in world hunger observed in this report last year sending a warning that more action is needed if we aspire to end world hunger and malnutrition in all its forms by 2030 Updated estimates show the number of people who suffer from hunger has been growing over the past three years returning to prevailing levels from almost a decade ago Although progress continues to be made in reducing child stunting over 22 percent of children under five years of age are still affected Other forms of malnutrition are also growing adult obesity continues to increase in countries irrespective of their income levels and many countries are coping with multiple forms of malnutrition at the same time overweight and obesity as well as anaemia in women and child stunting and wasting Last year s report showed that the failure to reduce world hunger is closely associated with the increase in conflict and violence in several parts of the world In some countries initial evidence showed climate related events were also undermining food security and nutrition This year s report goes further to show that climate variability and extremes even without conflict are key drivers behind the recent rise in global hunger and one of the leading causes of severe food crises and their impact on people s nutrition and health Climate variability and exposure to more complex frequent and intense climate extremes are threatening to erode and reverse gains in ending hunger and malnutrition Furthermore hunger is significantly worse in countries where agriculture systems are highly sensitive to rainfall temperature and severe drought and where the livelihood of a high proportion of the population depends on agriculture The findings of this report reveal new challenges to ending hunger food insecurity and all forms of malnutrition There is an urgent need to accelerate and scale up actions that strengthen resilience and adaptive capacity of people and their livelihoods to climate variability and extremes These and other findings are detailed in the 2018 edition of The State of Food Security and Nutrition in the World
