Beatific Enjoyment in Medieval Scholastic Debates Severin Valentinov Kitanov, 2014-03-25 Beatific Enjoyment in Medieval Scholastic Debates examines the religious concept of enjoyment as discussed by scholastic theologians in the Latin Middle Ages Severin Kitanov argues that central to the concept of beatific enjoyment fruitio beatifica is the distinction between the terms enjoyment and use frui et uti found in Saint Augustine's treatise On Christian Learning Peter Lombard a twelfth century Italian theologian chose the enjoyment of God to serve as an opening topic of his Sentences and thereby set in motion an enduring scholastic discourse Kitanov examines the nature of volition and the relationship between volition and cognition He also explores theological debates on the definition of enjoyment whether there are different kinds and degrees of enjoyment whether natural reason unassisted by divine revelation can demonstrate that beatific enjoyment is possible whether beatific enjoyment is the same as pleasure whether it has an intrinsic cognitive character and whether the enjoyment of God in heaven is a free or un free act Even though the concept of beatific enjoyment is essentially religious and theological medieval scholastic authors discussed this concept by means of Aristotle's logical and scientific apparatus and through the lens of metaphysics physics psychology and virtue ethics Bringing together Christian theological and Aristotelian scientific and philosophical approaches to enjoyment Kitanov exposes the intricacy of the discourse and makes it intelligible for both students and scholars

Thinking

about the Emotions Alix Cohen, Robert Stern, 2017-06-02 Philosophical reflection on the emotions has a long history stretching back to classical Greek thought even though at times philosophers have marginalized or denigrated them in favour of reason Fourteen leading philosophers here offer a broad survey of the development of our understanding of the emotions The thinkers they discuss include Aristotle Aquinas Ockham Descartes Malebranche Spinoza Hobbes Hume Shaftesbury Hutcheson Kant Schiller Schopenhauer Nietzsche James Brentano Stumpf Scheler Heidegger and Sartre Central issues include the taxonomy of the emotions the distinction between emotions passions feelings and moods the relation between the emotions and reason the relationship between the self and the emotions At a metaphilosophical level the collection also raises issues about the value of historical study of the discipline and what light it can shed on contemporary concerns Thinking about the Emotions is a fascinating and illuminating collective study of how philosophers have grappled with this most intriguing part of our nature as beings who feel as well as think and act Ordering Emotions in Europe, 1100-1800 Susan Broomhall, 2015-09-01 Ordering Emotions in Europe 1100 1800 investigates how emotions were conceptualised and practised in the medieval and early modern period as they ordered systems of thought and practice from philosophy and theology music and literature to science and medicine Analysing discursive psychic and bodily dimensions of emotions as they were experienced performed and narrated authors explore how emotions were understood to interact with more abstract intellectual capacities in producing systems of thought and how these key frameworks of the medieval and early modern period were enacted by individuals as social and emotional practices acts and experiences of everyday life Contributors are Han Baltussen Susan Broomhall Louis C Charland Louise D Arcens Rapha le Garrod Yasmin Haskell Danijela Kambaskovic Clare Monagle Juanita Feros Ruys Fran ois Soyer Robert Weston Carol J Williams R S White and Spencer E Young Richard Hooker Paul Anthony Dominiak, 2019-12-12 Richard Hooker s Of the Laws of Ecclesiastical Polity has long been acknowledged as an influential philosophical theological and literary text While scholars have commonly noted the presence of participatory language in selected passages of Hooker s Laws Paul Anthony Dominiak is the first to trace how participation lends a sense of system and coherency across the whole work Dominiak analyses how Hooker uses an architectural framework of participation in God to build a cohesive vision of the Elizabethan Church as the most fitting way to reconcile and lead English believers to the shared participation of God First exploring Hooker s metaphysical architecture of participation in his accounts of law and the sacraments Dominiak then traces how this architecture structures cognitive participation in God as well as Hooker s political vision of the Church and Commonwealth The volume culminates with a summary of how Hooker provides a salutary resource for modern ecumenical dialogue and contemporary political retrievals of participation The Alchemy of Extremes Eugenio Canone, Ingrid Drake Rowland, 2007 DICTIONARY OF PHILOSOPHY ANCIENT MEDIEVAL-MODERN, 1960 Emotions in Ancient and Medieval Philosophy Simo Knuuttila, 2004 The first part of the book covers the theories of the emotions of Plato and Aristotle and later ancient views from Stoicism to

Neoplatonism Ch 1 and their reception and transformation by early Christian thinkers from Clement and Origen to Gregory of Nyssa Cassian and Augustine Ch 2 The basic ancient alternatives were the compositional theories of Plato and Aristotle and their followers and the Stoic judgement theory These were associated with different conceptions of philosophical therapy Ancient theories were employed in early Christian discussions of sin Christian love mystical union and other forms of spiritual experience The most influential theological themes were the monastic idea of supernaturally caused feelings and Augustine's analysis of the relations between the emotions and the will The first part of Ch 3 deals with the twelfth century reception of ancient themes through monastic theological medical and philosophical literature The subject of the second part is the theory of emotions in Avicenna's faculty psychology which to a great extent dominated the philosophical discussion of emotions in early thirteenth century This approach was combined with Aristotelian ideas in later thirteenth century particularly in Thomas Aquinas extensive taxonomical theory The increasing interest in psychological voluntarism led many Franciscan authors to abandon the traditional view that emotions belong only to the lower psychosomatic level John Duns Scotus William Ockham and their followers argued that there are also emotions of the will Chapter 4 is about these new issues introduced in early fourteenth century discussions with some remarks on their influence on early modern thought

Emotional Minds Sabrina Ebbersmeyer, 2012-07-30 The thoroughly contemporary question of the relationship between emotion and reason was debated with such complexity by the philosophers of the 17th century that their concepts remain a source of inspiration for today's research about the emotionality of the mind The analyses of the works of Descartes Spinoza Leibniz and many other thinkers collected in this volume offer new insights into the diversity and significance of philosophical reflections about emotions during the early modern era A focus is placed on affective components in learning processes and the boundaries between emotions and reason

Subjectivity and Selfhood in Medieval and Early Modern Philosophy Jari Kaukua, Tomas Ekenberg, 2016-02-23 This book is a collection of studies on topics related to subjectivity and selfhood in medieval and early modern philosophy The individual contributions approach the theme from a number of angles varying from cognitive and moral psychology to metaphysics and epistemology Instead of a complete overview on the historical period the book provides detailed glimpses into some of the most important figures of the period such as Augustine Avicenna Aquinas Descartes Spinoza Leibniz and Hume The questions addressed include the ethical problems of the location of one's true self and the proper distribution of labour between desire passion and reason and the psychological tasks of accounting for subjective experience and self knowledge and determining different types of self awareness

Pleasure Lisa Shapiro, 2018 For many the word pleasure conjures associations with hedonism indulgence and escape from the life of the mind However little we talk about it though pleasure also plays an integral role in cognitive life in both our sensory perception of the world and our intellectual understanding This previously important but now neglected philosophical understanding of pleasure is the focus of the essays in this volume which challenges received views that pleasure is principally motivating of action unanalyzable and caused rather than responsive to reason Like other books in the Oxford Philosophical Concepts series it traces the development of the focal idea from ancient times through the 20th century The essays highlight points of departure for new lines of inquiry rather than attempting to provide a full picture of how the idea of pleasure has been explored in philosophy The volume begins by showing how Plato Aristotle early Islamic philosophers and philosophers in the Medieval Latin tradition such as Aquinas honed in on the challenge of unifying the variety of pleasures so that they fall under one concept In the early modern period philosophers shifted from understanding the logic of pleasure to treating pleasure as a mental state As the studies of Malebranche Berkeley and Kant show the central problem becomes understanding the relation of pleasure to other sensory experiences and the role of pleasure in human cognition and knowledge Short interdisciplinary reflections interspersed between essays focus on art of 16th and 17th century textbooks and the difficult music of composers like Bach which demonstrate translation of these concerns to cultural production in the period As the essay on Mill shows the 19th century development of scientific psychology narrowed the definition of pleasure and so its philosophical focus Contemporary accounts of pleasure however in both philosophy and psychology are now recognizing the limitations of this narrow focus and are once again recognizing the complexity of pleasure and its role in human life Book Review Index ,2003 Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation

The Encyclopaedia Britannica ,1911 Choice's Outstanding Academic Titles, 1998-2002 Rebecca Ann Bartlett,2003 International Encyclopedia of the Social & Behavioral Sciences Neil J.
