Harris, 1958 Emotional Problems of Adolescents James Roswell Gallagher, Herbert Ignatius Harris, 1976 Adolescent Mental Health Terje Ogden, Kristine Amlund Hagen, 2018-06-14

Adolescence is a period characterized by both increased susceptibility to risks and new found strength to withstand them. Whilst most young people are well equipped to manage the changes associated with growing up, other maladjusted and marginalized adolescents already have or are at risk of developing mental health problems. Adolescent Mental Health Prevention and Intervention is a concise and accessible overview of our current knowledge on effective treatment and prevention programs for young people with mental health problems. Whilst addressing some of the most common mental health issues among young people such as behavioral problems and drug related difficulties, it also offers a fuller understanding of the evidence based treatment and prevention programs that are built upon what we know about how these behavioral and emotional problems develop and are sustained. The volume illustrates contemporary and empirically supported interventions and prevention efforts through a series of case studies. It has been fully updated in line with the latest NICE and DSM V guidelines and now includes an added chapter on implementation and what factors facilitate implementation processes of intervention efforts. Adolescent Mental Health Prevention and Intervention will be essential reading for students and practitioners in the fields of child welfare and mental health services and any professional working with adolescents at risk of developing mental health problems. The Relationship Between Mental Health and Substance Abuse Among Adolescents

United States. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration. Office of Applied Studies, 1999 Emotional Disturbance in Adopted Adolescents Harold D. Grotevant, Ruth McRoy, Susan Zurcher, 1988-07-28

A report of research on two groups of residentially placed emotionally disturbed adolescents compared on the basis of their adoptive status. A post hoc comparison with a nondisturbed adoptive group is also included. McRoy, Grotevant, and Zurcher examine factors related to adoption that may contribute to the development of emotional difficulties. The authors' suggestions are worthy of consideration by professionals in the field. The theoretical reviews of potential sources of difficulty in adoption are well done and informative, and the presentation of the perspectives of both adoptees and adoptive parents is also laudable. Choice. Many adopted children experience emotional disorders during adolescence that require residential treatment. This volume reports research findings comparing adopted and non-adopted adolescents in treatment. The authors first discuss the difficulties of the adolescent period itself, particularly as it relates to identity problems. Based on extensive interviews with adoptive and non-adoptive parents, adolescents, and their therapists, successive chapters analyze genetic risk and prenatal care, explore the impact of family and peer relationships, examine familiar and contextual factors that initiate and maintain emotional problems, and examine adoptive family dynamics and adoption issues in nonclinical families. The various theoretical perspectives, research findings, and well-reasoned recommendations in this volume will interest social workers, clinical and developmental psychologists, and special education professionals.
