Guanxi and Local Green Development in China

Chunhong Sheng, 2019-06-19 This book examines the factors which contribute to local green development in China and employs political ecology to analyze the relationship between power and the environment Specifically it looks at which actors control access to resources and are therefore able to promote environmental progress Following the reform and opening up of China in the 1970s entrepreneurs and local officials profited economically and politically and formed close relationships known as guanxi in China As a result they have also been criticized as those responsible for the associated ecological damage This book does not contest this association but instead argues that the current literature places too much emphasis on their negative influence and the positive influence of their environmental work has been neglected Building on three case studies where local green development is being pursued Shanghai Pudong New Area Baoding and Wuning this book shows how local officials and entrepreneurs can also be the crusaders of a greener environment at the local level in China This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Chinese studies with a particular interest in environmental policy and politics business and society as well as those interested in sustainable development more broadly

Courting Islam Sean Oliver-Dee, 2020-02-13 This book is an exploration of the perceptions of the American and British governments about Islam and Muslims based upon their experiences over the past two centuries It provides a response to the accusation that US and British governments are inherently anti Islamic and are seeking the destruction of that faith through their policy decisions The book uses primary documents from the US and British governments to examine the attitudes of politicians and officials in a variety contexts ranging from the War on Terror the Iranian Revolution and the Trojan Horse Scandal to the conversion of Alexander Russell Webb to Islam Islamic Finance and Mosque building In so doing it provides a wide angle lens on the diversity of issues and experiences which have shaped the views of officials and politicians about Islam Strategies Of Digitalization And Sustainability In Agrifood Value Chains Isabelle Piot-Lepetit, Fatima El Hadad-Gauthier, 2025-03-04 Nowadays stakeholders of agrifood value chains are developing specific strategies regarding their sustainable transformations supported by digital technologies These strategies are designing new activities within and outside the whole value chains and in each of their specific segments such as raw products supplies and machinery production transformation transportation and logistics distribution retail and consumption The strategies developed by agrifood stakeholders related to the digitalization for more sustainability of their practices and activities are changing the way stakeholders are interacting and fuel in one way or another new reconfigurations of value chains Most often sustainability initiatives explore new value added activities goods and services while digital initiatives acknowledge the opportunities resulting from the use of digital solutions such as sensors the Internet of Things e commerce platforms blockchain or robots and advanced data analytics based on big data cloud computing technologies or artificial intelligence applications Digital and sustainable transformations have been explored in the literature for some time now by considering either the changes involved in farms companies and business activities or the necessary adjustments of the economic and regulatory environments However the setting up of strategies related to the digitalization for sustainable agrifood value chains has not often been investigated *Gender Mainstreaming Strategy and Action Plan for Environment and Natural
