Early Cinema Thomas Elsaesser, Adam Barker, 2008      Early Cinema Thomas Elsaesser, Adam Barker, 2019-07-25 In the twenty years preceding the First World War cinema rapidly developed from a fairground curiosity into a major industry and social institution a source of information and entertainment for millions of people Only recently have film scholars and historians begun to study these early years of cinema in their own right and not simply as first steps towards the classical narrative cinema we now associate with Hollywood The essays in this collection trace the fascinating history of how the cinema developed its forms of storytelling and representation and how it evolved into a complex industry with Hollywood rapidly acquiring a dominant role These issues can be seen to arise from new readings of the so called pioneers Melies Lumiere Porter and Griffith while also suggesting new perspectives on major European filmmakers of the 1910s and 20s Editor Thomas Elsaesser complements the contributions from leading British American and European scholars with introductory essays of his own that provide a comprehensive overview of the field The volume is the most authoritative survey to date of a key area of contemporary film research invaluable to historians as well as to students of cinema

Space Frame Narrative University of East Anglia. School of Film and Television Studies, 198?      Alice Guy Blaché Alison McMahan, 2002-01-01 Over a hundred years after she started making films which was considerably earlier than D W Griffith Mabel Normand and Lillian Gish began their careers the life and work of Alice Guy Blache is still shrouded in myth and controversy Only a fraction of the approximately one thousand films that she directed still exist and almost half of these have been found very recently The films are spread out in archives all over the world Not all of them are available for viewing even to scholars and many of them are in desperate need of conservation and preservation It is widely agreed that she was the first woman filmmaker but there is considerable debate as to whether she made the first ever fiction film She played a key role in early sound film production and yet this part of her career is almost always ignored She is to this day the only women ever to have owned and run her own film studio And yet she made her final film in 1920 at the age of 47 and died in New Jersey in 1968 unacknowledged unheralded almost totally forgotten Ten years of research has enabled Alison McMahan to piece together the career of this extraordinary woman What results is the first full length treatment of Alice Guy Blache s work the debunking of several long standing myths about her and ultimately the emergence of a feminist figurehead of the filmmaking industry BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Early Cinema Simon Popple, Joe Kember, 2019-07-25 This book introduces the reader to the study of cinema as a series of aesthetic technological cultural ideological and economic debates while exploring new and challenging approaches to the subject It explores the period 1895 to 1914 when cinema established itself as the leading form of visual culture among rapidly expanding global media emerging from a rich tradition of scientific economic entertainment and educational practices and quickly developing as a worldwide institution      Film Narratology Peter Verstraten, 2009-01-01 In Film

Narratology Peter W J Verstraten makes film narratives his primary focus while noting the unexplored and essentially different narrative effects that film can produce with mise en scene cinematography and editing Celluloid Saviours Emily Caston,2020-05-22 In Celluloid Saviours the author analyses a corpus of US films dating from the silent era that she calls film blanc In these fantasy films a guardian spirit with extraordinary powers suspends the ordinary known laws of time and space and a main character reforms himself or herself in life changing ways The author argues that the historical pattern of film blanc relates to the rise and fall of liberal and reform thought in US politics specifically to conceptions of human nature as a tabula rasa This conception is evident both in the early feature films featuring angels such as Chaplin s The Kid and much later examples such as the 1980s box office hit Trading Places She argues that this narrative tradition runs from Hollywood s beginnings to the present day and is foreshadowed in the English ghost stories of Charles Dickens The classic era of film blanc is epitomised in the enduringly popular film It s a Wonderful Life More recent examples of narrative form analysed by Caston include The Truman Show and Eternal Sunshine of the Spotless Mind

Editing and Special/Visual Effects

Charlie Keil,Kristen Whissel,2016-08-26 Most moviegoers think of editing and special effects as distinct components of the filmmaking process We might even conceive of them as polar opposites since effective film editing is often subtle and almost invisible whereas special effects frequently call attention to themselves Yet film editors and visual effects artists have worked hand in hand from the dawn of cinema to the present day Editing and Special Visual Effects brings together a diverse range of film scholars who trace how the arts of editing and effects have evolved in tandem Collectively the contributors demonstrate how these two crafts have been integral to cinematic history starting with the trick films of the early silent era which astounded audiences by splicing in or editing out key frames all the way up to cutting edge effects technologies and concealed edits used to create the illusions Throughout readers learn about a variety of filmmaking techniques from classic Hollywood s rear projection and matte shots to the fast cuts and wall to wall CGI of the contemporary blockbuster In addition to providing a rich historical overview Editing and Special Visual Effects supplies multiple perspectives on these twinned crafts introducing readers to the analog and digital tools used in each craft showing the impact of changes in the film industry and giving the reader a new appreciation for the processes of artistic collaboration they involve

Nick Deocampo,2017-11-09 This book is a sequel to Cine Spanish Influences on Early Cinema in the Philippines and part of Nick Deocampo s extensive research on Philippine cinema Tracing the beginnings of motion pictures from its Spanish roots this book advances Deocampo s scholarly study of cinema s evolution in the hands of Americans Screen ,2008

The Edwardian Sense Morna O'Neill,Michael Hatt,2010 This is the twentieth in a series of occasional volumes devoted to studies in British art published by the Yale Center for British Art and the Paul Mellon Centre for Studies in British Art and distributed by Yale University Press Book Jacket Film 1900 Klaus Kreimeier,Annemone Ligensa,2009-10-05 The current digital revolution has sparked a renewed interest in the origins and trajectory of modern media particularly in the years around 1900 when the technology was rapidly developing This collection aims to broaden our understanding of early cinema as a significant innovation in media history Joining traditional scholarship with fresh insights from a variety of disciplines this book explains the aesthetic and institutional characteristics in early cinema within the context of the contemporary media landscape It also addresses transcultural developments such as scientific revolutions industrialization urbanization and globalization as well as differing attitudes toward modernization Film 1900 is an important reassessment of early cinema s position in cultural history

Black Manhood on the Silent Screen Gerald R. Butters, 2002 In early twentieth century motion picture houses offensive stereotypes of African Americans were as predictable as they were prevalent Watermelon eating chicken thievery savages with uncontrollable appetites Sambo and Zip Coon were all representations associated with African American people Most of these caricatures were rendered by whites in blackface Few people realize that from 1915 through 1929 a number of African American film directors worked diligently to counter such racist definitions of black manhood found in films like D W Griffith s The Birth of a Nation the 1915 epic that glorified the Ku Klux Klan In the wake of the film s phenomenal success African American filmmakers sought to defend and redefine black manhood through motion pictures Gerald Butters s comprehensive study of the African American cinematic vision in silent film concentrates on works largely ignored by most contemporary film scholars African American produced and directed films and white independent productions of all black features Using these race movies to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race in popular culture he separates cinematic myth from historical reality the myth of the Euro American controlled cinematic portrayal of black men versus the actual black male experience Through intense archival research Butters reconstructs many lost films expanding the discussion of race and representation beyond the debate about good and bad imagery to explore the construction of masculine identity and the use of race as device in the context of Western popular culture He particularly examines the filmmaking of Oscar Micheaux the most prolific and controversial of all African American silent film directors and creator of the recently rediscovered Within Our Gates the legendary film that exposed a virtual litany of white abuses toward blacks Black Manhood on the Silent Screen is unique in that it takes contemporary and original film theory applies it to the distinctive body of African American independent films in the silent era and relates the meaning of these films to larger political social and intellectual events in American society By showing how both white and black men have defined their own sense of manhood through cinema it examines the intersection of race and gender in the movies and offers a deft interweaving of film theory American history and film history

Eleftheriotis, Gary Needham, 2006 Asian cinema is an area of increasing interest in Anglo US film studies while Asian films are now widely distributed and popular with western audiences The fascination with Asian cinema must be examined in the context of a complex and often problematic relationship between western scholars students viewers and Asian films This book therefore examines a number of detailed case studies such as the films of Ozu Bruce Lee Hong Kong and Turkish cinema Hindi melodramas Godzilla films Taiwanese directors and Fifth Generation Chinese cinema and uses them in order to investigate the limitations of Anglo US theoretical models and critical paradigms By engaging the readers with familiar areas of critical discourse such as postcolonial criticism national cinema genre authorship and stardom the book aims to introduce within such contexts the unfamiliar case studies which will be explored in depth and detail The advantage of such an approach is that it works with the dynamics of familiarity unfamiliarity and resists the temptation to construct Asian cinemas as a gallery of exotic objects that might be particularly fascinating but remain deeply distant and foreign Features A comprehensive study of Asian cinemas including Hong Kong Japan China India Turkey and Taiwan An accessible guide for the study and research of Asian cinema which addresses undergraduate and postgraduate students and researchers Each section contains a contextualising introduction Includes key texts by Ackbar Abbas Rey Chow David Desser Dimitris Eleftheriotis Nezih Erdo
