and extraordinary secular and sacred natural and man made came to define some of the key developments of the early modern world This book will be essential reading for all those interested in the early modern world Approaching Historical Sources in their Contexts Sarah Barber, Corinna M. Peniston-Bird, 2020-04-13 In Approaching Historical Sources in Their Contexts 12 academics examine how space time and performance interact to co create context for source analysis The chapters cover 2000 years and stretch across the Americas and Europe They are grouped into three themes with the first four exploring aspects of movement within and around an environment buildings the tension between habitat and tourist landscape cemeteries and war memorials Three chapters look at different aspects of performance masque and opera in which performance is re constructed from several media radio and television The final group of chapters consider objects and material culture in which both spatial placement and performance influence how they might be read as historical sources archaeological finds and their digital management the display of objects in heritage locations clothing photograph albums and scrapbooks Supported by a range of case studies the contributors embed lessons and methodological approaches within their chapters that can be adapted and adopted by those working with similar sources offering students both a theoretical and practical demonstration of how to analyse sources within their contexts Drawing out common threads to help those wishing to illuminate their own historical investigation this book encourages a broad and inclusive approach to the physical and social contexts of historical evidence for those undertaking source analysis A Singular Remedy Stefanie Gänger, 2020-10-15 Innovative exploration of how medical knowledge was shared between and across diverse societies tied to the Atlantic World around 1800 Artists' Things Katie Scott, Hannah Williams, 2024-01-09 Histories of artists personal possessions shed new light on the lives of their owners Artists are makers of things Yet it is a measure of the disembodied manner in which we generally think about artists that we rarely consider the everyday items they own This innovative book looks at objects that once belonged to artists revealing not only the fabric of the eighteenth century art world in France but also unfamiliar and sometimes unexpected insights into the individuals who populated it including Jean Antoine Watteau François Boucher Jean Baptiste Greuze and Elisabeth Vigée LeBrun From the curious to the mundane from the useful to the symbolic these items have one thing in common they have all been eclipsed from historical view Some of the objects still exist like Jean Honor Fragonard's color box and Jacques Louis David's table Others survive only in paintings such as Jean Siméon Chardin's cistern in his Copper Drinking Fountain or in documents like François Lemoyne's sword the instrument of his suicide Several were literally lost including pastelist Jean Baptiste Perronneau's pencil case In this fascinating book the authors engage with fundamental historical debates about production consumption and sociability through the lens of material goods owned by artists The free online edition of this open access publication is at www.getty.edu/publications/artists-things and includes zoomable illustrations Free PDF and EPUB downloads of the book are also available Feeling Things Stephanie Downes, Sally Holloway, Sarah Randles, 2017-12-30 This interdisciplinary essay collection investigates the various interactions of people feelings and things throughout premodern Europe It focuses on the period before mass production when limited literacy often prioritised material methods of communication The subject of materiality has been of increasing significance in recent historical inquiry alongside growing emphasis on the relationships between objects emotions and affect in archaeological and sociological research The historical intersections between materiality and emotions however have remained under theorised particularly with respect to artefacts that have continuing resonance over extended periods of time or across cultural and geographical space Feeling Things addresses the need to develop an appropriate cross disciplinary theoretical framework for the analysis of objects and emotions in European history with special attention to the need to track the shifting emotional valencies of objects from the past to the present and from one place and cultural context to another The collection draws together an international group of historians art historians curators and literary scholars working on a variety of cultural literary visual and material sources Objects considered include books letters prosthetics religious relics shoes stone and textiles Many of these have been preserved in international galleries museums and archives while others have remained in their original locations even as their contexts have changed over time The chapters consider the ways in which emotions such as despair fear grief hope love and wonder become inscribed in and ascribed to these items producing emotional objects of significance and agency Such objects can be harnessed to create affirm or express individual relationships as for example in religious devotion and practice or in the construction of cultural communal and national identities

Kongo: Power and Majesty Alisa LaGamma, 2015-09-16 A fascinating account of the effects of turbulent history on one of Africa's most storied kingdoms Kongo Power and Majesty presents over 170 works of art from the Kingdom of Kongo an area that includes present day Republic of Congo Democratic Republic of Congo and Angola The book covers 400 years of Kongolese culture from the fifteenth century when Portuguese Dutch and Italian merchants and missionaries brought Christianity to the region to the nineteenth when engagement with Europe had turned to colonial incursion and the kingdom dissolved under the pressures of displacement civil war and the devastation of the slave trade The works of art which range from depictions of European iconography rendered in powerful indigenous forms to fearsome minkondi or power figures serve as an assertion of enduring majesty in the face of upheaval and richly illustrate the book's powerful thesis

Empires of Knowledge Paula Findlen, 2018-10-26 Empires of Knowledge charts the emergence of different kinds of scientific networks local and long distance informal and institutional religious and secular as one of the important phenomena of the early modern world It seeks to answer questions about what role these networks played in making knowledge how information traveled how it was transformed by travel and who the brokers of this world were Bringing together an international group of historians of science and medicine this book looks at the changing relationship between knowledge and community in the early modern period through case studies connecting Europe Asia the Ottoman Empire and the Americas It explores a landscape of understanding and misunderstanding nature through examinations of well known intelligencers such as overseas missions trading companies and empires while incorporating more recent scholarship on the many less prominent go betweens such as translators and local experts which made these networks of knowledge vibrant and truly global institutions Empires of Knowledge is the perfect introduction to the global history of early modern science and medicine

Linnaeus, Natural History and the Circulation of Knowledge Hanna Hodacs, Kenneth Nyberg, Stéphane van Damme, 2018 The name of Carl Linnaeus 1707 1778 is inscribed in almost every flora and fauna published from the mid eighteenth century onwards in this respect he is virtually immortal In this book a group of specialists argue for the need to re centre Linnaean science and de centre Linnaeus the man by exploring the ideas practices and people connected to his taxonomic innovations Contributors examine the various techniques materials and methods that originated within the Linnaean workshop paper technologies publication strategies and markets for specimens Fresh analyses of the reception of Linnaeus's work in Paris Königsberg Edinburgh and beyond offer a window on the local contexts of knowledge transfer including new perspectives on the history of anthropology and stadial theory The global implications and negotiated nature of these intellectual social and material developments are further investigated in chapters tracing the experiences and encounters of Linnaean travellers in Africa Latin America and South Asia Through focusing on the circulation of Linnaean knowledge and placing it within the context of eighteenth century globalization authors provide innovative and important contributions to our understanding of the early modern history of science
