

Easy Classical Piano Duets

BOOK 1

FOR TEACHER AND STUDENT

Selected and Edited by Gayle Kowalczyk and E. L. Lancaster

ABOUT THIS COLLECTION

This book realizes the value of having both students play duets from the earliest years of piano study. Consequently, the most successful piano methods available today include teacher-student duets in the beginning levels.

The first known duets were written as early as the late 1600s or early 1700s centuries, and piano teachers have composed teacher-student duets since the 1800s century. This volume contains teacher-student duets written by five teachers and composers who lived in the 1800s and 1900s centuries.

These duets can be used with beginning students of all ages. However, to facilitate ease in reading the score by young children, the piano and secondary parts are on separate pages. In addition, the student parts are limited to a single five-finger position, not extended to trills and traze cuts, and fall mostly within the grand staff reading range.

Arranged in approximate order of difficulty, if the student part, the duets can be used for sight-reading or classroom experience. Students will be motivated by the full musical line from the added teacher part as they acquire security with tempo and rhythm provided by accurate performance. Enjoy!
